ge Government To Take Active Steps For End Of Chinese Trouble

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 25.—One French citizen and 100 Chinese were killed in clashes between combined French and British forces and Chinese soldiers in Canton on Tuesday, Consul-General Jenkins reported to the state department. No Americans were hurt but many Europeans were wounded.

SHANGHAI, June 25.—The American government was called upon by Americans in China today to take an active hand in suppressing disorder growing out of the general strike of Chinese against foreigners.

At the same time, the Chinese government stationed troops at the meeting place where Chinese were to stage a monster anti-foreign demonstration this afternoon, and announced its determination to halt the demonstration.

American interference in China was urged in a cablegram transmitted today to the United States state department by the American Association of China.

"The United States should energetically co-operate with other powers and adopt the strongest attitude in order to suppress the present state of lawlessness directed against foreigners," the cablegram recited.

"The situation is, in our opinion, due primarily to long existing political conditions and aggravated by Soviet propaganda."

The association urged that China be held "strictly responsible for all losses of life, property and business."

Attack On British

With the Japanese attempting to make a separate agreement in order to stave off the possibility of a boycott, the Chinese are now focusing their major strength in a determined effort to drive out British industry and commerce from China.

Under an agreement finally reached between the students and merchants, the banks and shops are reopening Friday but definite boycott steps have been taken, including a ban on British and Japanese bank notes, imports, shipping and education.

CITY TO FIGHT FOR CUT IN P. E. RATES

Council Gives Approval To Attorney's Appointment In Conducting Case

Abandoning all attempts to reach an amicable settlement with the Pacific Electric railroad over the demand of the city of Glendale for reduced passenger fares between Los Angeles and Glendale, the City Council today approved the appointment of Hugh Gordon, 940 Citizens National Bank building, Los Angeles, as special counsel to aid City Attorney Ray L. Morrow in an action before the State Railroad commission.

Gordon will be given a $1000 retainer fee, which will cover all necessary consultations and preparatory work and a trip to San Francisco to personally confer with members of the railroad commission. A sum not to exceed $100 per day while actually engaged in the hearing before the railroad commission will also be allowed.

Estimates Cost

According to Morrow's estimate the total cost of Gordon's work will be $1600.

Several months ago the city made preparatory plans for starting a legal action before the railroad commission to obtain a 10 cent fare between Glendale and Los Angeles. Robert Young, a Hollywood attorney, was retained by the City Council and preliminary work started, when it was decided to make a final attempt to reach an agreement with the Pacific Electric. Young agreed to cancel his contract upon the city's request.

COOLIDGE CAN NOT LOAF ON VACATION

President At Loss To Know How He Shall Spend Long, Lazy Hours

By GEORGE E. DURNO

For International News Service.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 25.—President Coolidge, somewhat lacking in true vacation complex, was casting about today for some means of diversion to fill the hours that in Washington have been spent at work.

Comfortably settled in his elaborate summer White House, and duly thankful for the prevailing cool weather, the president frankly is at a loss as to exactly how he will amuse himself over a two months' period.

Golf, tennis, swimming, boating and all other usual forms of recreation do not especially appeal to Mr. Coolidge and he is asking his friends just what he will do with his newly found spare time.

For the present, of course, he plans to relax and enjoy a complete rest. But he anticipates a continued rest may pall as the summer progresses.

Ready to Cruise

The Mayflower is anchored off Marble Head for such cruises as he desires to take and the White House limousines are in the White Court garage should be prefer a motor trip; but cruising and motor riding also will pall if taken in overdoses.

Those attached to the presidential entourage are predicting he will find the solution of his problem in work.

Everett Saunders, secretary to the president, has made no engagements for the president. One invitation to speak at a banquet was declined.

After breakfast today President Coolidge, under lowering skies and within sound of a roaring surf kicked up by a strong east wind, took a short walk within the confines of the grounds of White Court.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, talking to newspaper correspondents at the conclusion of the session, said that the details of the debt discussion would not be made public and urged that there be no speculation as to what went on in the conference on the ground that such reports might have a harmful effect upon the negotiations.

A hot east wind fanned the flames, which were burning toward the southwest.

PARK BOARD IS HARD HIT BY REDUCTIONS IN FIGURES

Request For Salary Raise By City Manager Stone Meets With Denial

The City Council, in session today, adopted the budget for the new fiscal year. There were some salary increases; there were a number of department budget slashes.

The department heads and members of the council have been figuring for weeks on the city's budget and the one adopted today is the work of long hours and night sessions.

Cutting departmental requests by $175,917, the council adopted the 1925-26 budget totaling $1,329,458.38, which includes $468,828.38 for general government, $50,555 for the park board, $35,957 for the library department and $774,118 for the public service department.

The greatest cut was in the park board, which asked a total of $127,885 for the next fiscal year. This year the park board operated on a budget of $28,340 and in the fiscal year ending last July the board spent only $13,945.

Elaborate plans of that board which included the construction of another modern swimming pool in one of the Glendale parks and the expenditure of a large sum of money in the newly acquired Brand park were vetoed by the council and by City Manager V. B. Stone in his recommendations to the council.

Stewart was near the end of his long, sarcastic arraignment of the prosecution when recess was taken. His colleague, W. W. Important Industry Closes Up All Because of--Well, Read On!

REDDING, Cal., June 25.—Here's a slippery yarn. In other words, here's a nature tale that is deserving of the fur-lined frying pan. It is true—there are scores of citizens ready to take the stand and swear to it. No, it's NOT a Chamber of Commerce publicity story. Briefly, an extra heavy run of eels caused the shut down of an important Redding industry. Charles Diestelhorst has a plant on the river bank that hoists sand and gravel from the river bed. He had to close down today to clean the eels out of the buckets that came up with the sand and spoiled it for building material.

PARK BODY TO SEEK BONDS FOR POOL

Officials Plan Election On Issue Of $42,000 For New Bathhouse

A municipal bathhouse and swimming pool, to cost in the neighborhood of $42,000 will be sought for Glendale through a bond issue to be submitted to the voters this summer.

An appropriation covering this amount for a new and adequate municipal swimming pool was stricken from the proposed budget of the Glendale Park commission by the City Council today. The park board, headed by L. H. Wilson, asked that sufficient funds for a new bath house be included in the 1925-26 city budget. In deciding to refuse the request of the park board, it is understood the council favored the calling of a special bond election to provide funds for the pool.

Only One Pool

Glendale has but one small swimming pool at the present time, located at Patterson park. The tank is only 30 feet by 90 feet in dimensions and is entirely inadequate to care for the crowds of children and adults that seek admission daily during the summer months. The plunge was officially opened for the season on Tuesday of this week. Crowds of children who sought admission yesterday overtaxed the capacity of the pool, however.

In planning an enclosed plunge and bath-house, the park commissioners expect to encourage swimming the year round. A bond issue for $42,000 will cover the cost of necessary land on which to build the plunge and care for the construction of the pool and bath house as well. No definite location for the pool has been decided upon as yet, it was stated.

Budget For New Fiscal Year Adopted By City

probable tax rate for next year now will be $1.23, an increase of 12 cents for the present fiscal year.

For general government during the next fiscal year a total of $523,372, with a probable tax rate of 93 cents was asked. City Manager Stone recommended $468,417 with an 83 per cent tax rate. His recommendation was raised less than $400 by the council.

The library board asked $80,000 with a probable tax rate of 16 cents. City Manager Stone vetoed plans for a new library building and cut his recommendation to $35,957, with a tax rate of 7 cents. The council allowed the same figures.

Some Salary Raises

The park board requested $127,885 with a probable tax rate of 25 cents per $100 valuation. Stone recommended $47,955 with a 9 cent tax rate, and the council allowed $50,555. Stone's estimate of the city's needs for the next fiscal year were increased only $3,011.38 in the budget as finally adopted today.

There are few salary raises provided in the budget. An increase of $125 per month asked by Stone was denied. Stone now gets $500 a month. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow and his assistant, Leslie Tarr, were given salary increases of $50 per month each, making them $450 and $250, respectively. A stenographer at an increase of $15 per month, making her salary $150 monthly, is also provided.

Health Department

The health department also obtained an increased budget providing for additional workers, including a health nurse and additional laboratory assistants.

The budget also provides for an increase of $550 per month for the garbage contract, overruling Stone's recommendation. The budget provides for payment of $34,200 for garbage hauling during the next fiscal year. Stone recommended $27,600.

A total of $13,824 is provided for additional firemen during the next year to man Fire Station No. 5, now in process of building.

The park board asked $42,000 for construction of a new swimming pool, which was denied. It asked $35,000 for Brand park and $19,000 was granted.

Wonder If This Chap Dares To Tell His Wife About It

NEW YORK, June 25.—The modern housewife is not getting enough exercise—labor-saving devices now in use in the home are making her lazy and causing her health to suffer, Dr. Guy E. Manning of San Francisco declared today at the last session of the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy. Every man is anxious to spare his wife labor, he said.

"But for her own good she should take some exercise she now avoids with her vacuum cleaner, electric dishwasher, etc. Mother has turned into an engineer instead of a housewife.

Wants Limit Placed

He centered his attack on a new station now being installed at Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, where he said a total of ninety-four feet is being used as entrance. He demanded that a twenty-five foot limit be placed for each service station entrance, with thirty feet for stations on cross streets off of Brand boulevard. Councilman C. E. Kimlin declared that thirty feet should be permitted as a matter of safety to pedestrians. The matter was referred to the city manager, chief of police and city engineer for recommendation.

The city today accepted plans and specifications for construction of a drainage channel in the southwestern part of the city by the county flood control board, providing for covering of cross-street channels.

Data Prepared

City Manager V. B. Stone replied that he had "anticipated" the proposition and was already obtaining data. Under the provisions of the State Railroad commission order Glendale will be required to install a wig-wag system and to maintain a patrolman as watchman at the crossing twelve hours each day.

An oiled crossing can be installed at a cost of $390, it was estimated today.

The council today appropriated $500 for a survey by City Engineer J. F. Johannsen to determine the feasibility of lowering the grade of the Southern Pacific tracks within the city limits of Glendale, to be conducted under the auspices of the State Railroad commission. Another $500 was appropriated from the advertising fund for the All-Year club to be used in advertising. The council also appropriated $32.71 to prepay freight on a captured German howitzer to be erected in front of the city hall.

WORTHINGTON IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Physician Reports 'Wolf of La Salle Street' Cannot Live Thirty Days

John W. Worthington, the "Wolf of La Salle Street," who escaped from the Glendale sanitarium two weeks ago, is dying at a mud bath resort near Ensenada, Mexico, and cannot live more than thirty days, according to Dr. Francis Leroy Silvey, American physician, attending him.

Dr. Silvey issued his statement following an attempt by private detectives and Tia Juana gunmen to kidnap Worthington and rush him across the American line. The dying man, according to Dr. Silvey, is unable to walk, he has not sufficient strength to feed himself, can scarcely talk, and when he tries to his mind wanders pathetically.

That Worthington would have a serious relapse after he left the Glendale sanitarium two weeks ago was forecast by sanitarium authorities, who said that the excitement of the escape, tiresome travel and loss of hospital care would be too much for him.

Treatments Here

Worthington was convicted several months ago in Chicago of using the mails to defraud and was sentenced to serve three years in Leavenworth penitentiary. He obtained a stay of execution to come to California and enter the Glendale sanitarium for treatment. He was believed to have been in a dying condition when he was brought here, but he had gained considerable strength after a month in Glendale.

The brief life now left to Worthington by the ravages of disease has probably been further shortened, according to Dr. Silvey, by severe burns he received a few days ago while taking a hot medicinal bath. He suffered a stroke of paralysis and lay helpless in the scalding water until he was rescued.

Went to San Pedro

When Worthington left the Glendale sanitarium he drove by taxi to San Pedro and took a barge from that point to Ensenada, according to Dr. Silvey. He was followed by two detectives in a private automobile, who obtained four additional men at Tia Juana. They found the Worthington cottage at Ensenada well guarded by armed men placed there by Chief of Police Palas, under the Mexican trespass law.

By provisions of the trespass law, when one steps on private property the owner or his guards can order him off. If he fails to go, he can be killed, and the law upholds the killer. The six would-be kidnapers were about to get past the two armed guards when Chief Palas arrived with reinforcements, and the attempt was abandoned.

Dr. Silvey has forwarded a written report to United States Attorney McNab in Los Angeles of Worthington's condition.

GIRLS' STORY OF ACCIDENT IS UPHELD

Miss Virginia Huntley Is Completely Exonerated At Jury Trial

Testimony of eight girls yesterday won a favorable and unanimous verdict in the $51,000 damage suit against Mrs. Edith Huntley and daughter, Miss Virginia Huntley, 19, of 308 North Central.

Miss Huntley was accused by Claude Minter, manager of the Drew Carriage Co. of Ontario, of being responsible for an automobile crash in November, 1923, on Base Line road, near Claremont, in which he was seriously injured. Mrs. Huntley was named in the suit because of the fact she was owner of the car being driven by her daughter. Mrs. Huntley was not in the machine at the time of the accident.

Miss Huntley and seven girl friends, in two autos, were on a pleasure trip when Miss Huntley's car and Minter's auto collided. The latter's machine turned over three times. Miss Huntley's car was not upset. The third car, containing some of the girls, was about twenty feet behind Miss Huntley's car, but did not figure in the crash.

Completely Exonerated

Minter charged Miss Huntley was driving at an excessive speed. However, the testimony of Miss Huntley and her seven girl friends, given before a jury in Superior Judge Monroe's court in Los Angeles, showed that Miss Huntley was driving at about twenty miles an hour and that Minter's car was going at about forty miles an hour when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Huntley and her daughter were represented by Attorneys W. E. Evans and W. I. Gilbert, the latter being attorney for the company carrying insurance on the Huntley car. The case required about a week to try and the jury, in its verdict, completely exonerated Miss Huntley.

FAMOUS EDIFICE NOW MECCA OF SOUTHLAND

Christenings, Weddings and Funerals Are Held Daily at Little Church of Flowers at Forest Lawn Park

By EDITH Y. INGLE
Of The Evening News Staff.

"The Little Church of the Flowers!" Under its arches and down its blossom-bowered aisles have come those to whom life has just opened, the babies to be christened, and those to whom life—mortal life—has just closed, whose feet have touched "the bourne from whence no traveler returns." And with these two comes still another company, those who are just starting out in life hand in hand—the brides and bridegrooms.

Several years ago the first of this company of brides thrilled to the beauty of "the Little Church of the Flowers" enshrined at the entrance of Forest Lawn Memorial Park, and resolved to herself that this once, at least, the chapel, from being a memorial place for the dead, should be a hallowed shrine dedicated to the living.

And so the first wedding was held in "the Little Church of the Flowers," but no one at the chapel knows who the first bride was. It was not until 1923 that the Book of Weddings was kept, and of the many brides who followed in the footsteps of this first one there are no records until two years ago.

"The Little Church of the Flowers" is like unto that which inspired Gray to write his immortal "Elegy In a Country Churchyard." Surrounded by beautiful foliage and screened by a copse of Scotch heather, the ivy-mantled Little Church is patterned after the beloved original at Stoke Poges, England. It was at the English original of the Little Church that Gray wrote the "Elegy."

Flowers Aplenty

In the church at Forest Lawn flowers bloom all the year round and golden canaries give their liquid music for all who will to hear.

The building was erected in 1917 and in that year was dedicated by Dr. James Whitcomb Brower, of the Temple Baptist church of Los Angeles. But the church was dedicated to no one creed, or rather, to all Christian creeds, for all were welcome. And it was never thought then that the tiny church would resound to the solemnly joyous strains of the wedding march, for it was planned as a chapel for the dead, where the last sad rites would be said. In fact, a room aside from the church proper, but in a part of the dedicated building also, is for the crematory chapel, and in still another room beside it the furnaces of the crematory roar nearly all day long.

Thus in a day the little church sees all the great moments of life—first, perhaps, the christening of a wee one, then a solemn funeral from whose services sorrowing relatives and friends turn to make the sad journey to the grave, then the happy gathering for a wedding with possibly its pain mingled with its pleasure, and then, lastly, the majestic rites of cremation when truly ashes return to ashes and dust to dust.

Many Weddings

In ever-increasing numbers the brides and their swains keep coming more and more. June, the ages-old month of brides has at least an average of one wedding a day to her credit so far. One of the recent weddings to be held there was that of the former Miss Dana Lee Norris to Leland Storch, which took place last Sunday. Tuesday, June 23, saw another wedding solemnized when Miss Laura Morison and Paul J. Ferree, both of Los Angeles, came to Forest Lawn especially to be united at "the Little Church of the Flowers." The next wedding at which the principals are of Glendale will be held at the church June 27, when Miss Mildred Shope, of 633 North Geneva street, will become the bride of H. L. Talbert, also of this city.

Two weddings are set for today, June 25, and three for Saturday, June 27, while the engagement book has reservations for weddings as far ahead as September 18.

After the first year a wedding was held in the chapel, there were about six others held the next year. That was about four years ago. Last year seventy-two weddings were held in the church, and this year already fifty couples have been united in marriage within its confines.

Fame Has Spread

The fame of "the Little Church of the Flowers" bids fair to rival that of the "Little Church Around the Corner." From Trinidad, Colorado, came one happy couple, just to be married in this exquisite California chapel. That was just last week, when Wednesday, June 17, Eudora Babcock became Mrs. C. W. Hill.

In charge of the weddings, and, most appropriately also, in charge of the flowers for Forest Lawn Memorial Park, is Mrs. Vera Oldham. And many are the duties which fall upon her shoulders in connection with successfully launching the matrimonial craft. Many of the brides of the Little Church get their flowers from the famous gardens of the memorial park, and not only are the flowers ordered from there but the bridal bouquets are designed there, also.

Formerly a decorator by profession, Mrs. Oldham's services are constantly requisitioned to design bouquets and the lovely floral effects which add the final perfect touch to a charming wedding. Under her deft fingers the exquisite "sunset" sweetpeas add the final note of beauty to the bridal bouquet.

Not only does Mrs. Oldham plan and execute the floral decorations for weddings within the Little Church, but often the whole planning of the entire ceremony falls upon her willing and capable shoulders. Nearly every evening she is busy rehearsing bridal couples so that the great moment shall go through without a flaw. And to Mrs. Oldham's skill as an artist and designer are due many of the picturesque ensembles which the bridal party form at the altar. Many a wedding costume, from veil to dainty slipper, including the intricacies of the wedding gown itself, has Mrs. Oldham planned. Often, indeed, are the gowns of the bridesmaids made under her direction. Besides all this, due to the great influx of marriages held at the Little Church, Mrs. Oldham maintains a complete etiquette service for the brides and instructs the anxious girls in the very latest and most correct details which the young wife-to-be should know.

Brides and grooms of all creeds and nationalities have sought to have their vows sanctified at Forest Lawn. In one week three Mormons have sought their blessing there. There have been no Mormon marriages within the last two or three weeks.

On July 3 a Christian Science couple will be united by an Episcopal clergyman. Christian Scientists have no ordained minis-

WORLD'S TOUR BY 100 IS PLANNED

Big Party Of Local People Propose Visit To Every Section Of Globe

A trip around the world to include between seventy-five and 100 Glendale people, is contemplated by a group of Glendale business men for some time late this year or early in 1926, they announced today. Nearly 150 Glendalians and friends from other sections will make up the party, according to present plans.

Although arrangements for the world tour are still in the embryo stage, it is possible that the Glendalians may charter their own boat for the trip. Plans are in the hands of C. C. Cooper, manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Hellman bank. E. U. Emery, Paul Stillman, J. I. Wernette, Fred Smith, Nathan Rigdon and others are joining with Cooper in planning for the tour.

The party will visit all the continents, spending considerable time in Europe. A number of Omaha friends of Cooper will probably join in the trip.

Miss Lorine Czerniski, 209 West Doran street, teacher at the Central avenue school; Mrs. William S. Caldwell and Misses Agnes and Eunice Caldwell of 326 West Wilson avenue; Miss Alice McCoy, 1127 East Wilson avenue, teacher at the Colorado street school; and Miss Helen S. Tupper, Glendale school nurse, are members of the party. They will be joined by four others at Denver, Colo.

The teachers will sail on the Suffren on June 30. They will return home via Montreal on the steamer Doric about August 8.

Lowry will accompany the boys and have charge of the program of events during the camp. The site chosen is between Seven Oaks and Radford's on the Mill Creek road. Twenty-two members of the troop have signified their intention of attending camp and Scoutmaster Lowry requests that they be present at the meeting tomorrow night to make final arrangements for the outing. They are planning to leave here at 6 o'clock Monday morning.

Many Floral Offerings At Woolridge Funeral

The last rites were said yesterday for Mrs. Mabel Hortense Woolridge, wife of W. B. Woolridge, of Casa Verdugo. Interment was at Rosedale. Rev. J. C. Livingston, of Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. Many beautiful floral offerings testified to the great esteem in which Mrs. Woolridge was held by her many friends. Mrs. Woolridge died following an operation in a San Francisco hospital. She was the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Tressler and a sister of Mrs. Gretna Cordary and Mrs. Ruth Olshausen.

Girl Suffers Shock As Result Of Auto Crash

Miss Betty Clark, who now resides in Hollywood, but is well-known in Casa Verdugo, where she has many friends, is at her Hollywood home suffering from nervous shock caused by participating in an automobile collision Tuesday. Charles Clark, of Casa Verdugo, brother of Miss Clark, said his sister was driving her car when there was a collision between it and a car of the Los Angeles Gas Co. No one was injured in the crash, but Miss Clark sustained a nervous shock.

Mrs. James Horn Will Entertain Many Guests

About 130 guests are expected to the social affair which Mrs. James Horn will give at her Valley View, Casa Verdugo home Saturday night. Mrs. Horn will entertain in honor of Mr. Horn's mother, Mrs. A. T. Dodson.

EVOLUTION IS JOLTED BY PREACHER

Astronomer Knox In Canvas Tent Talk Defies Man to Explain Creation

That the Bible narrative of creation is the only credible explanation of the existence of our world and of its various forms of life as we see them today, was asserted by Astronomer Knox at his canvas auditorium last night. No man can explain the mystery of creation, he said, and the only way anyone can understand how the things that he sees came to exist, is by faith.

Men have tried to account for the existence of the planets and stars by the "nebular hypothesis," which was popular some years ago, he said, but is now discarded. Quoting several scripture verses which affirm the creation of all things by the word of God (Heb. 11:3 and Ps. 33:6), the speaker proceeded:

"If the matter of which our world and other worlds are composed did not come into existence in this way, how did it come? Geologists can tell us how old the rocks are; but where were they before that? Where did they come from? The man who does not believe the Bible has to believe that something came from nothing. Some people say they don't want anything to do with religion because there is so much mystery connected with it. But we cannot get away from mystery; it surrounds us everywhere. Eternity is a mystery, and every second of time is a part of this mystery. The credulous people are not those who believe the Bible.

Attacks Evolution

"The evolutionist tells us that the earth was once the abode of only some embryonic form of life, and that all the animal life we see today, including man, was evolved from this one source. You know how hard it is to rear a child, which starts life as an infant. What then must be the problem of developing a man from a mere life cell? It takes a very credulous person to believe in such a happening as that.

BAR IS GUILTY

We hear a great deal about lack of respect for law. We blame the people, we blame the lawmakers, and we blame the laws. But it remained for a Chicago judge to place the responsibility upon his own profession. "The sure and speedy administration of justice depends upon the reform of the American bar," said Judge James H. Wilkerson at a dinner of the American Law Institute. He continued:

"It is true that there is today in this country a spirit of indifference to law. I do not mean by that merely that the people do not respect and obey the criminal law. I mean that this spirit exists with reference to all law, whether it involves the assertion of public authority or concerns the protection of private rights.

"Many factors have contributed to this result. One of the most important has been the attitude of the members of the bar. Too frequently they have forgotten their position as chosen ministers of the law and have devoted their energies and talents to evading and thwarting it. It is not a pleasant record. It is one of the darkest pages in the history of our profession. * * * It is the task of the lawyers today to make amends for those past wrongs in their profession. It is for them to lead the way in restoration of respect for law and of demand for the administration of justice."

The Worlds Work claims that the legal profession is without the ability to reform itself, its business, its procedure, or the results it gets, and that reform must come from the outside. It is no wonder there are Bolshevists among us when we consider the way in which justice is administered. The recent trial of former Secretary Fall is an instance. An assistant attorney who had no business there went into the jury room. There is no record that he said or did anything to disturb justice. Nevertheless his mere presence was made to demolish the whole fabric of the government's case.

People feel, and with reason, that a man can commit murder and get away with it if he is rich enough. No one believes that the two Chicago youths who committed cold-blooded murder a year ago would have escaped the electric chair had their families been poor. Even ordinary suits drag along so that only the wealthy can stay by till the end.

Justice is indeed expensive, and the American bar and American courts are in need of reform.

A TANGLED WEB

It takes a confirmed optimist to see that the world is growing any nearer to international understanding since the close of the war. There is every prospect of continued European chaos should the Rhineland guarantee pact fail of ratification, a contingency that seems probable. In that case conditions return to where they were—France holding the Rhineland and the Ruhr until reparations are paid and Germany disarms, and Germany shows not the slightest inclination to disarm, until her equality with other nations in the world court is granted.

Great Britain sees no opportunity for Germany to recover until France withdraws from the Ruhr, and France will not withdraw until Germany disarms. Meanwhile, industry in France and Germany and in neighboring countries is hampered.

France faces the prospect of Germany's return to kaiserism and militarism, as well as the early fall of the Painleve ministry through active opposition of the Socialists, and the hampering of her Moroccan campaign.

There are uprisings and unrest in Africa, China and India, featured by intrigues on the part of Russia and Japan.

In Russia, 130,000,000 people are controlled absolutely by a few men whose fiat is law, for the parliament which exists is their servant rather than their master. And this handful of Soviet leaders warns Germany not to join the League of Nations, claiming that England is trying to drag Germany into the league in order to use her as a bulwark for possible attacks upon Russia.

On the western continent there has been a slight unpleasantness, also, due to the note of Secretary of State Kellogg to Mexico and the sharp reply from President Calles. Now we are told that the American note was the result of pressure from Great Britain and a tentative agreement between the United States and Great Britain to divide responsibility in diplomatic activity in different sections of the world, the United States to be held responsible for the protection of Britons and Americans in Mexico, while England will exert pressure in the east on behalf of Americans.

It seems almost hopeless to even try to untangle the web and bring about universal good will and understanding.

NEW YEAR IN JULY

A Chicago manufacturer is advocating the plan of making the business year begin July 1 instead of January 1 and most of the argument is on his side. The busiest season of the year for the merchant is around Christmas and New Year and it is then that stocks are allowed to run low because as little merchandise as possible is wanted when taking inventory. Most stores lose sales because they cannot furnish what their customers want, or give them the necessary attention, while invoicing. Some stores refuse to sell goods which the customer can see on the shelves during the period of taking inventory and this does not tend to make the buyer believe the store wants his trade.

July 1 is the slack season for almost all kinds of business. There is more time for invoicing then and stores would not lose so much by allowing their stocks to run low at that time.

The argument is advanced that changing the close of the fiscal year from December 31 to June 30 would interfere with income tax regulations. But the fact is, Uncle Sam closes his business year June 30 and any who wish to make the change may do so by securing from the local income tax collector, and filling out, a form which is an "application for change in accounting period."

Of course, many stores who do a big Christmas business feel the need of taking stock after the rush is over, and rearranging the merchandise. But, the important point is, a business man may close his fiscal year at any time he may choose.

The Backslapper

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A play has recently been given in New York called "The Backslapper."

It depicts a man who is an all-round good fellow and very popular. The trouble with him is that he has no principles.

He is a good illustration of a man with personality that is appealing.

But in a way it is deceptive. It is no good without principles, without some things we believe in and fall back on and stand for when the wind is in any direction.

You can always tell when you find a man of principle. He has his feet upon a rock and cannot be moved.

He is the kind of a man we trust. We know that he will keep his word and we know that he will be consistent with himself.

Personality is a good thing, but personality alone is delusive.

Personality is a good deal a matter of temperament. A man is usually born with it or born without it, although with care we can cultivate it.

Many a good fellow is a drunkard, a liar and a thief. We may like him and enjoy his personality, but we never depend on him.

There is many another fellow who seems to be mean and ungracious and grumpy, but whom we all trust because we know he has principles and will not depart from them.

Unfortunately positions in politics go to men with personality almost entirely, but positions of trust in the business world, the position of president of a bank or chairman of a large corporation, are filled by men who have principles.

As I have said before, we do not want a live wire or a good mixer for bank president. Ed Howe says that for this position we want the meanest man in town.

We are not looking for popularity nor general likeableness in those people who occupy positions of trust.

We are not looking for people who keep their word and whose obligations are sacred.

We are looking for people who are good in the dark as well as in the light, people with background, people with principles that are unswerving.

Horoscope

Again the stars give but feeble help to dwellers on earth, according to astrology. Venus is mildly benefic in aspect, while the sun and Neptune are adverse.

It is a rule under which women may be fairly successful in their business or professional work, but they may expect to be much criticized in the coming months, when there will be much jealousy on the part of men who are their competitors.

There is a slight encouragement toward romance while this sway continues, but it is well for women to be on their guard against deception.

Men are to be subject during the summer months to much dallying with sentiment, but with little serious lovemaking.

There is a good sign today for all the lighter forms of recreation, and theatres that present musical attractions should profit.

This is not an auspicious direction of the stars under which to seek any sort of employment.

For some reason chemists and druggists are to find a falling-off in a certain profitable line of manufactures.

Trade conditions are to be uncertain and changeable, but there is promise of much prosperity as a result of various transitions due to the development of national resources.

Artistic activities in the United States are to have the most wholehearted support from the public ever extended to them. Music, painting, sculpture and the drama will all benefit greatly from this time on.

Among the young under 10 years of age there is to be discovered great gifts that assure the development of an unusual number of great American artists, the seers prophesy.

Business of a safe and sound character should be successful, even if merely started, under this rule.

Mines and agriculture in Germany are to attract American capital, for the country comes under a sign making for constructive investments, astrologers announce.

Persons whose birthdate it is should beware of deception on the part of business associates. They may also suffer social intrigue in the coming year, which nevertheless should be most fortunate.

Children born on this day may be fond of dress and display and inclined toward extravagance, but these subjects of Leo probably will be able to satisfy all their great ambitions, for they will be talented and able to make money easily.

Today's Poem

AMY WENTWORTH

Her fingers charm the ivory keys,
They dance so light along;
The bloom upon her parted lips
Is sweeter than the song.

O perfumed suitor, spare thy smiles!
Her thoughts are not for thee;
She better loves the salted wind,
The voices of the sea.

Her heart is like an outbound ship
That at its anchor swings;
The murmur of the stranded shell
Is in the song she sings.

She sings, and smiling, bears her praise,
But dreams the while of one
Who watches from his sea-blown deck
The icebergs in the sun.

She questions all the winds that blow,
And every fog-wreath dim,
And bids the sea-birds flying north
Bear messages to him.
—John Greenleaf Whittier.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

Agree with Cicero that "to disregard what the world thinks of us is not only arrogant, but utterly shameless," or with Goethe that he "is of no account who esteems himself just as the popular breath may chance to raise him," as you will: It is nevertheless true that people generally think too much about the opinion which others form of them.

The slightest reflection will show that this opinion, whatever it may be, is not in itself essential to happiness.

It is hard to understand why everybody feels so very pleased when he sees that other people have a good opinion of him, or say anything flattering to his vanity.

If you stroke a cat, it will purr; and if you praise a man, a sweet expression of delight will appear on his face; and even though the praise is a palpable lie, it will be welcome, if the matter is one on which he prides himself.

It is observed by Schopenhauer that if only other people will applaud him, a man may console himself for downright misfortune; and conversely, it is astonishing how infallibly a men will be annoyed, and in some cases deeply pained, by any wrong done to his feeling of self-importance

"If the feeling of honor rests upon this peculiarity of human nature," Schopenhauer opines, "it may be a very salutary effect upon the welfare of a great many people, as a substitute for morality, but upon their happiness, more especially upon that peace of mind and independence which are so essential to happiness, its effect will be disturbing and prejudicial rather than salutary.

"Therefore it is advisable from our point of view, to set limits to this weakness, and duly to consider and rightly to estimate the relative value of disadvantages, and thus temper, as far as possible, this great susceptibility to other people's opinion, whether the opinion be one flattering to our vanity, or whether it causes us pain; for in either case it is the same feeling which is touched."

Otherwise a man is the slave of what other people are pleased to think,—and how little it requires to disconcert or soothe the mind that is greedy of praise!

Shakespeare sums the whole matter up in a few lines in Othello: "Reputation is a most false imposition; oft got without merit, and lost without deserving."

Who's Who

Although the present punitive counter-offensive of the French against the wild Riffian tribesmen in Morocco was conceived by Marshal Lyautey, credit for the actual launching of it successfully is given to General de Chambrun, American-born.

The general is another graduate of the stern and efficient colonial school of French arms that produced such great soldiers and administrators as Joffre and Galliéni, Lyautey, Gouraud and Mangin. The list merely begins with these. General Jacques Adelbert Pineton de Chambrun was already being cited in army orders twenty years ago in the Far East and the Sudan.

Three years since he received official recognition of his work in the valley of the Wergha in Morocco, where he pacified unruly tribes and established lasting order in a few months without the loss of a man.

Men of the Chambrun line have served France well for many a generation, both on the field of battle and in the more prosaic work of government. In modern times another of them, the general's brother, is a member of the chamber of deputies for the department of Lozere. The third brother is a diplomat.

Gen. Chambrun is linked historically with France's sister republic, through Marquis de Lafayette, whose great-grandson he is. Another link was formed when he married Miss Clara Longworth of Cincinnati, a sister of the present speaker of the house of representatives. The general himself was born in Washington 53 years ago, on July 23, 1872, and he went to be the French military attache there in 1908.

Associations familiar to him were therefore revived during the World war when he spent several months as chief liaison officer between the French general staff and its American counterpart in Chaumont. This tour of duty was preceded and followed by distinguished combatant service in command of artillery units at the front. Then, two years after the war ended, he was sent to Morocco to reorganize and head the French artillery there and engage with it in his fifteenth or sixteenth campaign.

The government of South Africa has purchased the only privately owned railroad there, paying $5,500,000 for it.

Timely Views

Honesty, sincerity and the rugged integrity of pre-war days.

These are the qualities for which the German people are looking and which caused them to elect former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to the presidency, according to Dr. S. G. Werner, iron and steel founder of Dusseldorf, who is now in the U. S.

"The German people," he said, "are trying the experiment of republican government and they are determined to give it a fair trial.

"They fear graft, bribery and demagogery. They seek in their president a symbol of honesty and integrity. Von Hindenburg was the only man upon whom a large number could agree as typifying the virtues they seek.

"Von Hindenburg has repeatedly pledged his loyalty to the Dawes plan as the best hope for the rehabilitation of the country. Like the rest of us, he wants peace.

"Will the former kaiser come back? My answer is no. The German people do not want him, and I don't believe William wants the throne again."

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mr. A.—If you will ring up the County Medical Society in your city, they will give you a list of physicians who specialize in your trouble.

No, dandruff is not a blood disease. Eczema, however, may be caused by internal irritation especially those caused by dietetic errors as well as external.

We have articles on these subjects which you may have by sending a good-sized, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

MUFFINS AND GUM

Dear Doctor: In your book you have muffins listed at 125 calories each. I am very fond of bran muffins and as I make them with two cups of bran and one cup of rye flour, instead of white, and in place of shortening I use two ounces of mineral oil (prescribed for constipation) do they register the same number of calories as other muffins? The recipe I use makes eight muffins.

"How many calories has a glass of ginger ale?

"Does chewing gum add calories to my diet Sometimes when I am awfully hungry I chew a piece of gum to help keep me from getting too hungry.—Miriam."

One cup of bran, about two and one-half ounces, amounts to about 215 calories, so in your recipe the bran amounts to approximately 430 calories; one cup of rye flour is 510 calories. Total, approximately 940 C. (The mineral oil is not absorbed so you need not count it). Each muffin would therefore count approximately 120 C.

Soft drinks are reckoned by the amount of sugar you think it would take to make them as sweet as they are. The ordinary glassful is probably 100 C., I should say.

Yes, sweet gum has calories in it—on account of the sugar—five to seven to the stick. You don't chew it in public, I'm sure.

YOUR FACE

E.—A "too fat" face in conjunction with a body that is normal indicates that that is the kind of face Nature intends you to have. In other words, it is a family characteristic. You might try massage, but I am afraid you will have to be philosophical about it and laugh it off! Seriously, be happy that you haven't something that is really disfiguring, and remember that the expression which shows loveliness of spirit makes any face beautiful.

Have you heard the limerick?

"As a beauty I'm not a great star;
There are others more handsome by far;
My face, I don't mind it,
Because I'm behind it—
'Tis the folks out in front that I jar."

TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs. K.—The great weak-cough and night sweats may indicate tuberculosis. It certainly indicates chronic toxemia of some nature. Put yourself under the care of a specialist.

Tuberculosis is curable if the treatment is begun in time. The chief remedies are out-of-door life, night and day, sunshine natural and artificial, liberal diet, rest, et cetera.

We have a little booklet on the subject which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. It goes more fully into the question of diet and gives a list of books for the layman.

Mr. Y.—Yes, chronic constipation may lead to chronic poisoning, but daily physic taking is also harmful. Stop that and include more laxative foods in your diet. We have an article on the subject.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The woman who is interested in handiwork can always be certain of receiving new suggestions for the exercise of her talents. For most embroidery shops, and the fancywork sections of large department stores, are continually putting forth original ideas. Here are some of the new things I have recently seen:

Washable Bunny for Baby:—These were made of Turkish toweling and stuffed. A few stitches with black embroidery silk, and two ruby beads, indicated bunny's whiskers and eyes. The maker may have used a pattern such as all pattern-manufacturers bring out; but the little animal looked as if it had been made from a "free hand" outline on two pieces of the toweling, the two parts then being sewed together. These sanitary toys ought to sell well in gift shops.

Crepe Cover For Small Hot-Water Bag: We have all seen the crocheted covers, the flannel covers, and the silk-ribbon covers for these tiny bags (which are used either for an infant, or for a grown-up's tooth ache.) But the newest thing is the crepe cover, made of two thicknesses of the material. How handy they must be for the busy woman who has no time to stop and iron! Yet they can also be dainty—made in pale pink, pale blue, or sprigged design—with a ruffle at top and crocheted draw-strings.

The New "In Sets" for the High Chair Tray: Every mother knows how much time it requires to clean cereal or gruel from the high chair tray after baby has had his meal, and then to dry the wood of the tray. Realizing that this is so, manufacturers have now put a new article on the market: an enamelware tray which fits into the wooden tray of the chair. But a home-made in-set tray can be made out of oilcloth, which will be equally as useful as the enamelware one. Simply fit white oilcloth into the chair's tray (no seams!) and lap the corners over to give it the right shape. Then cut it level with the top edge of the wooden tray and bind it with tape.

The Nursery Clock: The modern mother puts a clock of some sort in the nursery. For, she feels that it will awaken an early interest in time-telling, encouraging the curious little one to master this milestone of learning. Small clocks make less noise, of course, and "the very latest thing" in nursery clocks is a small nickel time piece set in the center of a painted animal, its face coming through a circle cut in the thin board of the animal's silhouette. This is a handiwork article for the boy who owns a jig-saw.

Tomorrow—Canning Your Corn

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. Chats On Beauty

FRECKLES

Some people are doomed to freckles. If you have much iron in your blood you cannot escape the results of a hot sun unless you take almost impossible precautions. But we expect freckles with red hair just as we expect a fair skin and blue eyes, and few people object to them anymore. Of course too many freckles aren't pretty—but some are inevitable.

The best remedy is precaution. Wear shady hats with dark brims, use plenty of powder; on very hot days use vanishing cream under the powder. Use ordinary cold cream before going in sea bathing, the cold water will help keep the cream in the skin, though not much will be left when the swim is over. Don't lie out in the sun to dry and expect not to freckle though.

Try such ordinary remedies as buttermilk, which is a good skin bleach if rubbed on and left on to dry for half an hour or so. Slice cucumbers thin, steep with a very little water until soft, squeeze through a sieve. Eight to ten drops of tincture of benzoin to an eight-ounce bottle will keep this mixture fresh and sweet. Rub into the skin after exposure to the sun and let it dry on for several minutes.

Equal parts of lemon or cucumber juice, glycerine and rose water make a good general bleach. For obstinate freckles, there are stronger things to be painted only on the freckles and not on the rest of the skin. Your doctor will give you a prescription if your freckles are really very bad. Massage with cold cream helps to "scatter" them because it stimulates the skin. Lemon juice by itself is also very good.

A. R. G.: It will take a long time to regain your firm bust after it has become flabby. The best thing to do is to stimulate the circulation by dashing very cold water over your chest several times each day, followed by brisk rubbing with a coarse bath towel.

A. C. H.: You can easily take cod liver oil for another month, or until the real warm weather comes. It is not as if you had been taking it all winter, and since you are so in need of it, it will not be apt to disagree with you at this season of the year.

M. C. H.: There is no way for you to remove tartar from the teeth yourself so it is best to go to a dentist and have it done before your teeth are injured.

R. E.: You cannot make your shoulders narrow, but you can make them appear less wide if you do not extend the shoulder seams of your suits or frocks beyond the actual shoulder line.

BRITISH ASSAIL U. S. RUBBER PURCHASE

Tire Makers Buy For Today, Say Growers, And Pass By Long Term Prices

The American rubber consumers have discussed freely what they could and would do regarding the high prices for crude rubber. The following dispatch shows plainly what the British planters and dealers who control the supply of crude rubber can and will do.

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The British rubber growers and dealers are perfectly willing to have American manufacturers continue the course they have followed heretofore, buying only for immediate consumption. They are also thoroughly willing for them to attempt to encourage production by Dutch growers to the exclusion of the British and to have the rubber manufacturers of America devote whatever sum they deem adequate to that end. Such policies would leave rubber prices high, the British growers assert, according to Fred B. Peterson, prominent dealer and importer who has just returned from London.

"The British rubber men feel that the American manufacturers have only themselves to blame for their present situation," Peterson said. "They did not take advantage of the provisions of the Stevenson plan which would have worked for their benefit but proceeded on the assumption that something would transpire which would make the plan ineffective and break prices.

"They bought from hand-to-mouth although they could have secured rubber for future delivery well under the spot price had they been willing to do so. This has reduced the supplies of spot rubber to a point where the stocks in London now are around 5500

Preparing for Record Crowd In Mountains

San Bernardino County Gets Ready To Welcome Auto Traffic On Holiday

By SPARE TIRE
For Southland News Service.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 25.—With record crowds of motorists expected in the San Bernardino mountains for the celebration of the Fourth of July every precaution is being taken to prevent forest fires and automobile accidents, according to local authorities.

In compliance with Chief Forester W. B. Greeley's request on the part of the federal government for co-operation in fire prevention work, the San Bernardino county Board of Supervisors has adopted an emergency ordinance, immediately effective, which prohibits smoking while traveling through grass covered or forest area of the county, restricts campfires to only those places permitted by county, state and federal fire wardens, and prohibits the use of fireworks in national forest area except at Lake Arrowhead and Bear lake and only on the water front there.

In order to permit the small boy to celebrate the Fourth of July in accord with custom, the fire department of this city will be manned by a double crew on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the celebration week-end, according to Fire Chief Ernest Leffen.

Jay Boone, chief of the county motorcycle squad, also will have extra officers on duty for night patrol of all roads in San Bernardino county, who will go on duty next week and continue throughout the summer months when traffic is heaviest to the Southland's great mountain playground. Reckless driving will be vigorously prosecuted.

Soldiers in China have been making extra money for themselves by illegally collecting taxes on flour.

ACCIDENTS IN PERCENTAGE DECREASE

Figures Prove Situation Improves; Still More Control Is Need

The drivers and passengers of a motor car are much safer today than they were eight years ago, according to statistics compiled by the safety-first bureau of the National Automobile club. The ratio of fatalities in population has greatly increased, but the automobile registration has also increased, and the percentage of accidents is decreasing rather than increasing.

This fact is often overlooked in the alarm at the increase in the number of accidents each year. In 1912, according to statistics compiled by Fred L. Hoffman, statistician of a life insurance company, there were 3000 automobile fatalities, while in 1921 there were more than 20,000.

Shows Decrease

The population increases only at the rate of 1 per cent per year, while automobile registration is increasing now at from 25 per cent to 30 per cent per year. In 1912 there were less than 1,000,000 cars registered, while in 1924 there was a total registration in the United States of 17,591,981. The ratio of automobile fatalities, therefore, showed a decline from 1912 to 1924, from 300 per 100,000 cars to less than 100 per 100,000 cars. In other words, the rate of fatal accidents in motor cars has been reduced to one-third of what it was twelve year ago.

The situation, on the other hand, is by no means as commendable as it should be. A careful analysis of the cause for motor accidents shows that, in the main, this heavy total is due to the indifference of drivers, too much speed and often the intoxicated condition of the man at the steering wheel.

Suggest Remedy

The motor car itself is a very safe means of locomotion, as accidents due to faulty machinery are exceedingly rare. Likewise, accidents which are due to unavoidable collisions are very rarely fatal.

The remedy which has been suggested includes a more thorough traffic control in the congested sections of the large cities. Second, better motor car equipment for traffic officers to enable them to keep up in speed with speed offenders, and third, a higher conception of judicial enforcement of traffic laws and speed fines.

According to an eminent authority on safety, "it is not the motor car industry or the motor car which is responsible for the great loss of lives, but the misuse of traffic privileges and public apathy as to the manner in which the guilty are brought to justice.'

CANYON IS OPEN

Reservoir canyon between Redlands and Beaumont is now open, the paving having been completed to within two miles of Beaumont. This stretch is scheduled to be completed by July 1, according to recent information received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. The two mile detour is good dirt.

USE OF HORN

Sometimes a loud blast on the horn from an approaching car startles the walker, having a tendency to confuse and perhaps make him jump directly in the path of the oncoming machine. Motorists are cautioned by the National Automobile club to use discretion in the use of the horn.

HIGHWAY IS OPEN

The paving of main thoroughfare through the town of Westmoreland has been completed and was opened on June 12, according to a recent report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club, thus eliminating a very rough detour of seven or eight blocks in length.

20 Years Ago

Taken from the files of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Read 'em over, folks, and weep for the "good old days."

A news item of twenty years back speaks of an automobile manufacturing company as the largest auto makers in the world, with a daily output of forty-five machines.

After various means of timing speeding automobiles were used by the Pasadena police, such as attempting to keep up with a car on a bicycle while holding a watch in one hand, and by posting officers with time-pieces at each of a measured distance on a road, the city commissioners authorized the purchase of two stop-watches for the police department to use in such work.

As a pioneer movement in the cause of good roads, the following provisions of a Riverside county ordinance of twenty years ago is chronicled in the Automobile Club of Southern California files:

"Every person who cuts, digs up, breaks or otherwise injures, damages or destroys any of the macadamized or oiled roads of this county by running, driving or transporting over, on, along or across the same, any disk, harrow, toothed roller, gang plow or any other implement or machine that has cutting or tearing surfaces, which come in contact with said roads, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, is punishable by a fine of not more than $100."

L. L. Whitman, who made the remarkable record of driving an automobile from San Francisco to New York City in thirty-three days, nearly half of the former sixty-one day record, said o horses were frightened so that no damage resulted during their trip, and that he stopped many times for teams to pass, and usually led timid horses past. He said he had no sympathy for smart alecks who rush over the roads, scaring teams into ditches. When haled into court they ought to have their cars taken away, he said, and be given a pair of wild horses to drive in the face of one of the "red devils coming down the middle of the road with a fool at the wheel."

TO LAKE ARROWHEAD

Roads to Lake Arrowhead are in excellent shape at the present time according to recent information received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. The toll road via the desert and Hesperia is always being graded and kept up. The Lake's Edge road, fourteen miles around the lake, has had its summer treatment recently and is now well oiled and sanded.

DETOUR ON HIGHWAY

The 100 yard detour around bridge construction work one mile south of San Juan Capistrano will be in effect for the greater part of the summer, according to a report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. It will be passable at all times for passenger cars and for trucks in dry weather.

BRIDGE COMPLETED

The bridge at the Merced-Madera county line, which has been under construction for some time, has been completed, and it is no longer necessary to detour at this point, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. The new bridge is a concrete structure.

TOURIST RUSH BY AUTO IS 1100 DAILY

Invasion of Motorist Brings Millions In Money Into South, Says Club

With out-of-state motor tourists entering Southern California at the rate of 1100 per day, the motorist invasion this year will not only be bigger than ever before, but will be twice as large as last year, predicts the touring bureau of the Automobile club of Southern California. This average daily rate of 1100 motorists, according to the auto club touring bureau, is thirty-three per cent greater than last year, and about 100 per cent better than the 1923 figures. The check-up of motorists crossing the border into the Southland includes all the main transcontinental highways, according to the club.

The figures that have been reported to the auto club show that approximately 150,000 automobiles have entered the southern territory since the first of the year, which, averaging four persons to a car, would bring the number of persons who have invaded this section to approximately 600,000.

Spend Huge Sum

An interesting side light on this phenomenal motor tourist influx is the estimate on the amount of money that is spent by these autoists in Southern California. From previous years' investigations, it is shown that the visiting motorists remain on an average of seventy-two days in the Southland during a six-months' period. On this basis, and on the conservative estimate of $4 spent by each person a day, it is shown that approximately $172,800,000 will have been spent by the touring motorists by July 1, 1925.

Don Doig, manager of the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, points out that his department is answering more than 200 letter inquiries from out of the state per day.

Letters Flood Office

The letters, asking about transcontinental routes, motoring conditions and relative circumstances in Southern California, come from all parts of the world, with Mississippi river territory and points east sending in the heaviest load of mail. This new record in letter inquiries, which is 100 per cent greater than that of the first six months of last year, is a fair indication that this great tourist rush will continue as strong during the rest of the year, says Manager Doig. Each inquiry is considered as representing one auto that will enter the state during the year.

LATE HUPS GIVEN FAVOR OF PUBLIC

Unusual Popularity Won By Car In Every State Of Nation, Is Report

Unprecedented popularity is accompanying new Hupmobile models throughout all parts of the United States, according to H. V. White, manager of the H. W. Swanson agency at 228 South Brand boulevard.

Never before in the history of Hup have models turned out by that company received the enthusiastic endorsement and attention that has been accorded the new fours and eights, according to White. Salesrooms everywhere are crowded by persons interested in these latest cars.

Dealers who have become impatient through a desire to satisfy a demand for large numbers of standing orders have gone direct to the factory for large driveaways, rather than wait for delivery, according to plant reports, White said. He invited Glendalians to inspect the new Hupmobiles.

Wow! Extra! Bulletin on First Auto Show In U. S.! Other Facts 25 Years Old!

The development of the automobile has been so rapid that many a motorist of the present day realizes with difficulty the transportation of twenty-five years ago. In November of this year will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first automobile show held in America, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

The exhibit was staged in Madison Square Garden in New York and one of the features was a track erected on the roof to prove to the public that the vehicle could actually propel itself as well as climb a hill. The show of that day was more in the nature of a museum exhibit than the fashion displays of the present age. A year later, in Chicago, the first automobile show of th emiddle west was held and eighteen vehicles were shown.

The gasoline engine itself dates back to the '70s and the first patent was granted to a German engineer although a Frenchman and an Englishman contributed valuable ideas that resulted in the development of the engine. The history of steam vehicles dates back to the latter part of the 18th century when a French engineer devised an automobile that ran at the startling speed of three miles per huor.

The types of tire employed on automobiles at the present time first came into use in 1902 and single tube tires were employed for the decade preceding.

The first automobile road race took place in 1900 over a fifty-mile course on Long Island. An electric vehicle won the event, at an average speed of twenty-four and one-half miles an hour. A steam car was second and a gasoline car third. All of the drivers in the race were heavily burdened with helmets and goggles and other paraphernalia which were thought necessary in such a strenuous test.

Chicago was the scene of the first automobile race. There were six entries over a fifty-four mile course for a $500 purse. The race was held on November 25, 1895. Four cars were gasoline driven and two were electric. Only two machines completed the race. Duryea driving a car of his own design, propelled by a gasoline engine, won in 10 hours and 23 minutes with an average speed of about five miles an hour.

NEW LAW HITS AT HABITUAL DRUNKARDS

Further Provision Is Made By State To Guard Against Accidents

Under the new state law regulating drivers of motor vehicles in California a provision was made that habitual drunkards will not be granted operators' licenses. The wisdom of this provision is indicated, according to the safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, by a report just received from New York state. This shows that two-thirds of the forfeited licenses in the Empire state were revoked because of drink.

Of the 1092 revocations up to June 1, 686 were for drunkenness. Reckless driving and speeding were responsible for 153 licenses being revoked. Only one-fourth of the revocations were due to all other causes indicating that intoxication, recklessness and speeding contributed 75 per cent of the culpable acts of drivers.

IMPROVING ROAD

Concrete shoulders are being placed on the coast highway approximately five miles south of Santa Barbara which does not interfere with motor travel, according to a recent report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. Construction work is in progress for several blocks entering Santa Barbara from the south. Temporary detour well posted.

DEATHS BY AUTO

According to information received by the Safety First bureau of the National Automobile club from the records of the state bureau of vital statistics during the past year there were more deaths resulting from automobile accidents than the knife and gun combined.

AUTO RANKS FIRST

The automobile ranks first among the country's manufactures, according to the bureau of census, the rating being on the basis of wholesale value of products. The steel industry is second and meat packing third.

TRAVEL TO CANYON

Automobile travel to Grand Canyon National park for the past two months has been 225 per cent above last year and there is every indication that the greatest tourist season in the history of the west may be expected this year. During the first fifteen days in May, all records for travel to the park during this period were broken when a total of 5031 persons entered the park, compared with 2207 last year.

GRADE PUZZLE CONFRONTING OFFICIALS

Loss Of Time By Autoists At Track May End Soon By Use Of Signals

Betterment of the congested traffic situation at railroad crossings on Alameda street in Los Angeles is expected shortly as a result of conclusions and recommendations just made by a joint conference of representatives of the Los Angeles city police department, the Board of Public Utilities, the Los Angeles Traffic commission, the Southern Pacific railway, the Pacific Electric Railway Co., the Los Angeles Railway corporation, the California Railroad commission, and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

After a thorough study of the existing conditions by the general committee, the report was made that the present scheme of handling traffic on Alameda street at many of the intersections under consideration is not satisfactory and that the existing situation justifies trying other methods with a view toward relieving the congestion.

Favor Signal System

The most practical means of handling traffic at the more important intersections under surveillance, according to the recommendation of the conference, is that of manually operated signals, so that installation of an approved signal system at one intersection, preferably that at Seventh and Alameda, was recommended. If the system is found to be satisfactory, after a fair trial, according to the report, similar devices should be installed at other congested intersections.

AUTO OWNERSHIP

Forty-eight per cent of the automobiles in the nation are owned in communities having over 5000 population, according to reports of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

BUSINESS IS GOOD, SAYS ESSEX MAN

Sale Of Cars Shows People Have Money And Not Afraid To Spend It

The automobile business, being one which immediately feels the influence of any slump or boom in business, is generally taken by financial men as a true barometer of prosperity in any community. For although the automobile is a necessity and not a luxury, the purchase of a car is generally the first thing deferred in times of financial stress and the first thing done in times that are good, it was said today by R. A. Kelley, local Hudson-Essex dealer.

Los Angeles' auto row was never a whiter spot in the "White Spot of America" than at present—at least so far as some of the leading dealers are concerned. This was disclosed by Kelley, who operates through the Walter M. Murphy Motors Co., Hudson-Essex distributors for Southern California, in a report in connection with their May business.

Murphy's report shows a total gross volume, whole sale and retail, of exactly $1,699,155.65, declared the largest single distributor's monthly business in six-cylinder cars exclusively in motordom's history.

Big Sale of Cars

This total volume of business embraced the sale of over 1400 Hudson and Essex cars—all enclosed vehicles—during the month.

Insofar as Los Angeles (including Hollywood) is concerned, the report disclosed that a total of 740 Hudson and Essex cars actually were registered by new owners during May in this territory. Official registration figures of the Automobile Publishing Co. were taken for the latter statement.

Right price and quality are responsible for this success, automobile experts agree as to Hudson and Essex, and point out that Southern Californians are prosperous, have the money ,and are ready to buy merchandise where the money's worth exists.

An automobile that makes fifty miles on a gallon of gasoline has appeared in England.

Buy Your Studebaker—Now!

You may buy a Studebaker today—or on any day of the year—with the confident assurance that no act of ours will stigmatize it as a "last year's model"

STUDEBAKER has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources.

Improvements and refinements, of course, will be made from time to time. New features will be added. As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer all vital betterments. But Studebaker will have no yearly models to make your July car obsolete in August.

A dramatic story

There is a dramatic story behind this new Studebaker policy that vitally concerns everyone who expects to buy an automobile this year.

Amazing records of Studebaker performance and endurance prove beyond question that the present line of Studebaker cars is so soundly engineered and manufactured and so satisfactory in the hands of owners that drastic annual changes are not required.

Authentic reports show that hundreds of Studebaker cars have given from 125,000 to 400,000 miles of sturdy, dependable service. One Studebaker Big Six, used as a mail car, traveled almost 500,000 miles in 5½ years, giving 24-hour round trip service between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, California.

Stupendous mileage! But the same stamina and rugged dependability is built into every Studebaker that leaves the factory.

A Studebaker taxi in Jewett City, Conn., has traveled 31,008 miles without even having the valves ground or the carbon removed.

In Stockton, Calif., a Studebaker Big Six has piled up 138,000 miles over steep mountain grades and rough country roads with negligible upkeep—not a single major part has been purchased or repaired by reason of wear or accident.

It is a significant fact that wherever travel conditions are most severe, Studebaker by far outsells its normal proportion of cars.

Bus Operators, Rent-a-Car Companies, Police and Fire Departments—all turn to Studebaker year after year for their transportation equipment, because they have found that it always yields scores of thousands of miles of reserve transportation, and has low upkeep costs.

At the mileage when other cars are breaking up—Studebaker cars are breaking in. It's the second and third fifteen thousand miles that prove Studebaker superiority. It's this reserve mileage—even though you may never use it—that greatly increases Studebaker resale value.

Stamina is in-built—inherent—a vital and indispensable part of the Studebaker formula for building fine motor cars.

Buy this "One Profit" car now

Remember—under this new Studebaker policy—there is no need to delay the purchase of your new automobile until annual changes have been made. Come in and see these sturdy, dependable, "one-profit" automobiles. Today Studebaker offers greater values than ever before. It is sound judgment to buy now.

PUBLIC WILL SEE LATEST CHRYSLER

New Four To Be Placed On Exhibit In Local Sales Rooms This Week

So great has been the demand for first-hand information regarding the new Chrysler Four that is to be placed in display on Saturday, June 27, that Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, local Chrysler dealer, has issued a number of invitations to Glendale residents for the first formal showing of the new model.

The Chrysler Four can be viewed at the salesrooms of the firm on Saturday afternoon, according to present arrangements, and present indications are that the crowds will tax the capacity of the establishment when the doors are thrown open on that date.

Way Paved By Six

"The Chrysler Six paved the way for the reception of the Four," said Mr. Clark, "and the success of the new model is already assured beyond any doubt. The information that I have received from the factory shows that the Chrysler Four will constitute as revolutionary an advance in the field of the four-cylinder cars as did the Chrysler Six in its field, where it leaped to the front inside a year after it was first introduced, and where it has steadily consolidated its leadership until today it ranks as the outstanding accomplishment in the automotive industry.

"What the Chrysler Four will be like I cannot reveal just now, but those who are interested in it—and thousands of inquiries have been received at our offices—will have every chance to inspect it for themselves on Saturday afternoon and night."

LITTLE GAS USED IN MOUNTAIN TRIP

Chandler Dealers Motor To Big Bear And Note Fine Showing Car Made

Barton Bros., 1119 South Brand boulevard, dealers for the Chandler and Cleveland cars for this territory, have just returned from a trip to Big Bear mountains. The trip was made in a Chandler car and King Barton says it was the most remarkable trip he had ever made in a car to Big Bear valley.

The car negotiated most of the grades in high gear, intermediate gear being used only a few times. The water never went to summer average at any time and the trip from their place of business to their cabin at Big Bear lake, was made in the remarkable time of four hours, leaving here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and arriving at Big Bear lake at 9 o'clock.

On their return the gas and oil consumption was checked and showed a remarkable average of fourteen and one-half miles per gallon of gas, and no oil used, a most unusual mileage for this size of car and the hills negotiated. The Barton Bros. are very well pleased over their trip, and also well satisfied with the Chandler and Cleveland models they have to offer to the people of this territory.

installed at the curb near each corner of the street was held to be the best signal system for the traffic. The lights would be green and red, the green to authorize traffic to proceed, and the red to stop traffic. The signals would be erected between seventeen and fifteen feet above the curb, and would indicate in both directions of street where the signals are placed whether traffic is to proceed or stop. Auxiliary bells to operate for a few seconds during the change of indications are to accompany each signal, according to the recommendations, while adequate controls for operation of the signals to be available in three locations

Speed Up Traffic

These recommendations are designed not only to prevent accidents, the conference points out, but also to speed up traffic Continual halting of long lines of automobiles is causing tremendous economic losses, according to studies of the problem recently made by the Los Angeles Traffic commission and the Automobile Club of Southern California

A recent traffic check on an average grade crossing showed that 13,130 motor vehicles passed during a twenty-four hour day; 516 street cars passed; 105 train movements were made, and that 3700 persons crossed while en gaged in work, or in coming to or going from work, so that the average delay was found to be equal to 15,100 man hours annually. The proposed system of traffic control will eliminate a large portion of this loss if adopted, it is believed.

Seventy-five per cent of the 679,000 automobile accidents in the United States last year were due to inefficient handling, state reports received by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

British Assail Methods In U. S. Rubber Buying

tons as compared with 50,000 tons a year ago. They are scrambling for this small amount to fill their immediate needs, although they can buy for future delivery later this year at prices well under the spot market."

No Rubber Famine

Peterson added that next year's rubber can now be bought for around forty-four cents a pound although spot quotations are hovering around seventy-five cents. He declared there was no possibility of a famine in rubber and said this was shown by the willingness of growers to contract for future supplies.

"But the Dutch growers are not going to 'bleed' their trees for the sake of obliging the American manufacturers," he continued. "They are in the business of producing and selling rubber and are not anxious to take such action as will tend to lower prices for their own product. Then, too, a very large percentage of the plantations in Dutch territory are controlled by British capital. For example, the Anglo Dutch Co. has 63,000 acres of plantation. A considerable portion of the output owned by Dutch capital is controlled by British dealers who have contracted for it in advance.

"If the American manufacturers intended to go into the business of planting rubber themselves, they could have secured plantations for a song when rubber was down, but the cost now is likely to be in direct proportion to the advance in prices and profits to the growers."

No Good for Tires

The use of reclaimed rubber. Peterson indicated, would become widespread in view of present prices but he showed that this would not suffice to fill the demand for new crude supplies. In the manufacture of hard rubber products much reclaimed rubber can be used but in making tires, only a certain percentage of salvaged product can be utilized. This applies also to the use of Guayule rubber produced from a shrub which grows in the high altitudes of the northern part of Mexico. Guayule can be produced easily and cheaply since the process involves little more than the maceration of the shrub and coagulation of the rubber under water but the product is soft and sticky and suitable only for special purposes.

The complaints from British tire manufacturers has now died down, Peterson concluded, and while there have been some questions asked on the subject in the British House of Commons there is no move on foot abroad to alter the regulations of the Stevenson export restriction plan, which is blamed by the American consumers for the price advance.

Mrs. Bernice Day To Fight Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—Mrs. Bernice Day, pretty 20-year-old bride of Darby Day, Jr., wealthy Chicago youth, whom she was convicted of attacking with acid, started her eighth week of incarceration in the county jail here with the announcement she would vigorously contest Day's divorce suit filed in Chicago.

The fiftieth day in the dingy prison, where she is held pending the appellate court decision whether she will be granted a new trial or required to serve one to 14 years in San Quentin prison, found Mrs. Day in high spirits. The reason, she said, was completion of arrangements for bail, which she said she expected to obtain in time to permit her to be in Chicago July 7 when the divorce case of her husband will be tried.

TIRE PRICES ARE TO GO UP AGAIN

Twenty Per Cent Advance Dated For July 1 With New Rise Possible

Another advance in tire prices, this time one of twenty per cent, is due, it is announced by Irwin Smith, manager of the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand. The increase will affect all tires and tubes and be effective July 1 without fail. This is the third advance since May 1, the other two price jumps being ten per cent each.

"It behooves the car owner who expects to need tires this summer to buy at once," he commented. "The raise in price of crude rubber made by the British growers is responsible for the higher cost and is something tire manufacturers can not control. Higher prices yet are possible. The trade is trying to grow its own rubber to meet the situation but it will be several years before results can show up."

The Smith Tire Co. handles Viking cords and balloons and inner tubes only. They have arranged a system of credit for buyers, as low as in weekly payments as $1.

SALES RECORDS SMASHED AGAIN

Nash Factory Reports Big Business; Latest Types Prove Popular

All previous sales and production records of the Nash Motor Co. have been again swept aside, figures of the company's books showing that March, 1925, was the biggest month in the history of Nash Motors, according to Charles McDaniel of the McDaniel Motor Co., 1234 South Brand boulevard.

The shattering of Nash sales records began last fall, shortly after the introduction of the special and advanced series of cars. The situation with respect to the big demand for Nash cars is further emphasized by the fact that the entire automobile industry fell off in production about 10 per cent, while Nash was making its latest record, Mr. McDaniel points out.

In anticipation of heavy demands in all Nash lines, plant extensions have been commenced at both the Kenosha and Milwaukee factories of Nash. These extensions include new buildings and additional production machinery.

BUICK BUYERS ON TOURS OF STATES

Return Of Glendale Owners Awaited With Interest; Dealer At Factory

When W. A. Tanner, general manager for Tanner & Hall, Buick dealers, at Brand and Maple, returns from the east he is expected to have a large fund of interesting data for present and prospective Buick users. He attended the Rotary convention in Cleveland and is now visiting his mother in Pennsylvania, but before returning home will spend four days in the Buick factory at Flint, Mich. Newest methods of manufacture, distribution and sale will be studied, as well as experimental work under way.

A number of new Buick buyers are touring the east or middle west at present, and on their return will be sources of worthwhile information for people planning trips by Buicks or expecting to buy. William Trice, local merchant, has just got a Master coach and probably will tour British Columbia.

The quota for the Buick year, August to August, given Tanner & Hall was 175 cars, and already this goal is so near there is no reason it will not be much exceeded.

RECORD PRICE ON BATTERIES IS SET

Cizek Co. Handling Willard Output For Light Cars Which Is Novelty

A remarkably low priced Willard battery is being turned out by the Willard people to fit certain types of small cars and is now being distributed in this district by the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Broadway. This battery is retailing at a lower figure than any Willard battery has ever been tagged before.

"This is a new list price for a battery to fit the Ford, Chevrolet, Star, Overland, Maxwell and other light cars," said Henry M. Kuhn, one of the owners of the business. "It can be used on other cars as well, if desired, but is especially adapted to the light automobile. This is a genuine Willard battery."

The Cizek Co. sells many high priced Willards, placing emphasis naturally on those batteries with threaded rubber insulation, which are protected by a hundred patents or more against infringement of the particular points which make this product stand out in the battery field.

NEW OLDS WINS QUICK APPROVAL

McLean Co. Sales Manager At Eagle Rock Mentions New Points In Car

Great enthusiasm is being exhibited for the new Oldsmobile, declares K. F. McCrary, recently made sales manager by the R. A. McLean Motor Sales Co., Inc., for the Eagle Rock branch, 2028 Colorado boulevard.

"Thirty minutes at the wheel will make an Oldsmobile enthusiast out of any driver of experience," he said today.

A chassis of the new car, used for demonstrations, has been displayed in Glendale on its tour of the country. McCrary called attention to the many improvements made in the last few months. The clutch has been made even better than it was, a longer wheel base has been given the car, the connecting rods are longer and valve efficiency has been increased. The car has a Fisher body with Duco finish.

The R. A. McLean Motor Sales Co., Inc., is also the agency for the Star car.

OVERLAND SEDAN WINNING FRIENDS

Six Cylinder Car Built To Meet Definite Demands, Says Agent Here

The Overland six-cylinder sedan that sells in Glendale for $1095 is enjoying an immediate popularity here, according to H. H. Murray, of Murray Motors, Inc., 907 South Brand boulevard, local distributors of Willys-Knight and Overland automobiles.

The car "outclasses every rival and is the apex of value," declares Murray. "It has the latest design, gives snappy performance, has an irresistible beauty, and is of exceptional construction.

"The Overland six-cylinder sedan didn't just happen. It was designed and built by our engineering department at Toledo in collaboration with our sales department, to satisfy a definite demand on the part of the motor-car-buying public for an attractive, sturdy and practical enclosed car in the six-cylinder class at a reasonable price."

CAMPOLOGY

Prepared by "Outdoor Franklin" for the Western Auto Supply Co.

Individual Needs Should Govern Camper's Purchase of Tent

When choosing the tent, the camper should carefully study his own individual needs and make his purchase accordingly. A tent that might by ideal for one camping party will not always do for another. Here are a few of the many points to be considered before making the tent purchase: The number of people on the trip, the length of the trip, weather conditions, "one night" stands or a permanent camp, and the accommodations offered by the car itself.

The tent should be large enough to comfortably house every member of the party. It should be light and compact for ease in transportation. It must provide real shelter against storms, wind and cold. It should be equipped to keep out mosquitoes, bugs, insects, etc. The ideal tent can be set up by one person in a few minutes' time.

There are many different types in tents, but the two that have met with ready approval among the majority of auto campers are the palmetto or umbrella and the lean-to types.

The lean-to, or standard auto tent, is a simple tent and very good for general auto camping purposes. It consists of a single sloping roof with a three-foot back wall, side walls and an open front. The canopy at top of the tent extends over the car and fastens to the wheels or hubs on the opposite side of the car. When the standard auto tent is used the car can be made into a dressing room.

The palmetto and umbrella tent stand quite independent of the automobile. There are no guy ropes needed and only one center pole used on the palmetto. There are screen windows, a pocket, a full door completed with a canopy. It is very easy to set up; simply stake down the corners and raise the center pole. This tent is equipped with a sewed-in floor and a canvas sill that keeps out unwelcome visitors.

A bobinet fly may be had to fasten over the door to keep mosquitoes out of the tent.

You should have very little trouble in setting up your tent if you take special note how it is folded when you first take it out of the bag. Try setting up the tent in the back yard or use it over night to get used to handling it before you leave on your trip.

Most of the modern tents come complete with jointed poles and wooden stakes. It is advisable to carry a number of extra metal stakes as the wood stakes that come with the tents are more easily broken than the metal ones.

The poles and stakes should be carried in a separate bag. This method saves wear on the tent and eliminates all danger of having the tent punctured by a sharp tent stake or pole tip.

Daily Bible School Is Magnet For Children

Interest in the Daily Vacation Bible school which opened Monday at Grand View school under auspices of Grand View Community church, has been steadily increasing and registration has reached 130. The school is held each morning from 8:25 o'clock to 12 o'clock and will continue for four weeks. A demand for a kindergarten necessitated the establishment of a department with Miss Marian Mair in charge. Twelve pupils have already enrolled and a limited number may be cared for. Mrs. Margaret W. Thomas is principal of the school.

The Knights and Ladies of the Shield has been worked out as a basis for the ideals and service of the school, making it possible for each child to earn five stars. The stars are given for memorizing of scripture, memorizing of hymns, distinguished handwork, community service, loyalty and helpfulness. The gold stars are set in silver shields, the girls wearing their shields as an arm band and the boys having theirs made of wood and painted in silver.

Evolution Attacked By Astronomer-Evangelist

that on the second day of creation God made the firmament, or atmosphere surrounding the earth. The atmosphere is absolutely perfect in its adaptation to the needs of animal and plant life. It contains oxygen, hydrogen and carbon dioxide in exactly the right proportions. If the proportion of nitrogen were greater we would die for lack of oxygen; and if the proportion of oxygen were greater life would be quickened into a fever. All the works of God come from his hand absolutely perfect. Examine the lily under the microscope, and its beauty and perfection only stand out more clearly; but examine your own work under the microscope and it is so crude that you are ashamed of it.

"It is the atmosphere that makes the sky blue in color, and that breaks up and diffuses the rays of sunlight so that we can see indoors. It is the atmosphere that gives us our beautiful sunsets. All these beautiful things speak to us of God's love and care for his creatures.

Salt Keeps Purity

"The record in Genesis tells of the gathering together of the waters at creation, making the oceans. The ocean water would become impure but for the salt that is in it. There is salt enough in the sea to cover the continent of North America to a depth of a mile. Sea water is unfit for drinking or for irrigation; but there is a mysterious law by the operation of which water, which is 800 times heavier than air, is changed from a liquid to a vapor which is lighter than air, which causes it to rise into the air.

"Still it would be beyond our reach but for the working of another law which causes it to condense and fall on the earth in the form of rain and snow. This very day fifty trillion tons of distilled water have been taken up into the atmosphere, all without any disturbance or a cent of cost to us. Think of the power that is required to lift such an amount of water such a distance. The French astronomer Argo has said on this point: 'The force required for the gigantic task of conveying water to the clouds in one year, amounts to more than the combined strength that all the nations of men could exert in 200,000 years.'

Marvel of Ice

"'He that calleth forth the waters of the sea and poureth them out upon the face of the earth, the Lord is his name,' says Amos 9:6. It is not Jones the rainmaker. Another marvelous provision is seen in the fact that water, which condenses as it gets colder, suddenly changes and expands as it reaches the freezing point. But for this the water on the earth would soon be frozen from top to bottom, and all the heat of summer would not be sufficient to melt it.

"There are a thousand things any one of which, if it had been omitted at creation, would have ruined it all for man. Say all this came by chance if you will; I say it testifies to the power and wisdom of a creator. Every beautiful flower speaks to us of the love of God."

"The Wonders of Creation" will be continued at the tent tonight. It was announced that Babienco, the Russian whistler and imitator of birds, will be on the musical program which begins at 7:30 o'clock.

HUNDREDS WED AT FAMOUS EDIFICE

Little Church Of Flowers Is Becoming Mecca For Many Happy Pairs

try, in common with certain of the Quakers and some other sects. California law requires that a marriage to be legal must be performed by an ordained minister or a justice of the peace. So the clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal church will marry the two followers of Mrs. Eddy early in July. Many Christian Scientists have had their nuptials in the Little Church, and often Mrs. Oldham has been requested to select the clergyman herself.

Adventists omit the ring ceremony from the marriage service, and two will be so united July 3. Adventists have, however, their own ordained ministry, and a pastor of their own faith will marry this couple.

In spite of the majesty of the occasion, many are the amusing things which happen during the course of the numerous weddings in the "Little Church of the Flowers." For instance, there was the occasion when a very obnoxious and unbidden guest obtruded his presence at the critical time. A very wealthy couple from Hollywood sought the blessing of the Little Church on their nuptial vows. The bridal party was grouped at the altar, the bride and groom ready to murmur "I do." Guests in the rear of the rear of the church craned their necks to see the ring slipped on a slender finger. Guests in the front had their eyes straight ahead.

Unexpected 'Guest'

But suddenly something in the rear of the church attracted the attention of the guests who were in the back of the church. Down the exact middle of the aisle hopped a very large and majestic bull-frog, eyes popping out of his head with the intentness with which he observed the ceremony. For a minute, every one was stunned by this unexpected intrusion, but by the time the frog had hopped quite a distance, a resourceful usher silently reached down and skillfully caught the intruder.

The frog suffered himself to be removed without protest, and the service went on with no interruption. The bride and groom and their party never even knew of the outsider who forced his way into the church. Before this happy Hollywood couple went to their magnificent yacht for their honeymoon the bride presented Mrs. Oldham with a string of very handsome amber heads as a token of appreciation for her help in planning the wedding.

Wedding Delayed

Again, there was the affair of the mixed weddings, when one ceremony was scheduled for 7 in the evening, the other for 8. While the bride who was to be married at 7 nervously paced the floor wondering if she really was to be "left waiting at the church," the expectant groom was having troubles of his own. The best man had promised to drive ushers and groom to the church. But it was after 8 p. m. when they got there. And the groom's party was rather a rowdy-looking crowd. They were plastered with dirt and grease. A flat tire on an untraveled road had been the cause of their misfortunes.

Mrs. Oldham brushed off the groom, even washed his face, combed his hair and powdered his nose, and restored him to his anxious fiancee just as good as new. Then the ceremony was held an hour late. But that did not inconvenience the second wedding party, because the minister who was due at 8 o'clock did not arrive until after 8:30.

So "the best laid plans of mice and men" often have to be changed and still "all's well that ends well."

Wounds Healed

And the Little Church has played its part in healing many a breach, also. There was a bride who when she had been a wife a little while, was not a happy wife. So the two came to the parting of the ways, and there was a broken home—a divorce. But the two who were unhappy together were even unhappier apart. There was a reconciliation, and each during the time of discipline having learned better how to bear and forebear, decided to again venture on the seas of matrimony in company. And when this couple were made man and wife again they sought the sanctuary of the Little Church. Not long after that, the sister of the now happily re-married wife held her nuptials in "the Little Church of the Flowers."

Some few of these former brides have brought their babies to the Little Church to be christened, and as the years roll on many others will probably do the same thing.

So, often, on one side of the wall the flames from the crematories are consuming the last of what once was endowed with life—and on the other, the words are being said which unite two who themselves hold the promise of life to come.

CAREFUL DRIVING

The highway from Fresno to a point three miles north is being widened with macadam shoulders, and while there are no detours, careful driving is advised, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. The widening of this road is very necessary, as during rainy weather it is a frequent occurrence for cars to skid off the edge of the road into the ditches at either side.

ATWATER STUDENTS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Grammar School Pupils Present Musical Program and Rev. John Albert Eby Gives Commencement Address

Students of the eighth grade of the Atwater grammar school were graduated and received their certificates at impressive exercises held at the school last night. A large audience of parents and friends witnessed the graduation. An address on the necessity of education was delivered to the students by Rev. John Albert Eby.

Those receiving diplomas were Irvine Brean, Julia Brown, Ernest Blackburn, Leonard Bushong, Mary Carlson, Frank Erwood, Florence Gould, Eva Hampton, Nona Isted, Arnoldine Larsen, Adele Loyd, Geraldine Mangham, Wilma McAlpine, Inez Moore, Howard Nichols, Harold Northrup, Lois Schofield, Donald Smith, Marion Stadler, Ardoin Stane, Oliver Sturdy, Richard Vanderwood, Charles Williams and Mildred Zemke.

An interesting program of music, recitations and dancing, featured the graduating exercises. The program follows: Selections by the school orchestra; "Midship Mates" and "They All Love Jack" by the boys' glee club; reading by Julia Brown; Chinese dance by Geraldine Mangham; reading by Adele Loyd; Russian dance by Marion Stadler; piano and saxophone duet, Arnoldine Larsen and Doland Smith; piano solo by Nona Isted; dance of the roses by Marion Stadler; class history by Mildred Zemke; class will by Wilma McAlpine; class prophesy—illustrated, Inez Moore and Arroldine Larsen; "Thank God for a Garden" and "The Sunshine" by girls' glee club; numbers by the combined glee clubs.

Settlement Is Reached

An amicable settlement of their dispute over the proposed spreading of an assessment district for the improvement of Los Feliz boulevard from the river to the Glendale city limits, was reached by property holders along side streets in the Atwater district who met yesterday with the Los Angeles City Council.

Residents not actually located along the thoroughfare to be improved protested against standing a share of the cost of installation of sidewalks and street lights on the boulevard. They were willing to stand part of the cost of the street paving bill. After a conference betwe n C. E. Michael and other property owners and city councilman, the c uncil agreed to reduce the amount of the side street assessments to a minimum, the exact figures to be announced later. The owners agreed to this plan.

Want Pastor To Stay

Additional letters of protest against the removal of Rev. James W. Utter, pastor of the Neighborhood Christian church from the Atwater district, have been filed with the mission board of the Christian church at Los Angeles by parishioners and other residents of the district. Recently the Atwater Improvement association unanimously passed a resolution seeking the retention of Rev. Utter in Atwater Park. It is understood that the mission board plans to move the pastor to Maywood where he recently spent a month establishing a new church. In their protests, the Atwater people point out that change in the pastorate at the present time does not appear wise or desirable. They hope to retain Rev. Utter who has been a prominent civic worker, they declare.

Chain Market Proposed

Establishment of a large chain market on Los Feliz boulevard between Brunswick and Boyce avenues, is contemplated, according to realty circles of the district. The name of the company seeking to open the store was not divulged. Realization of the project would mean another business structure for Los Feliz road, it was said.

Here's Nature Tale

Clayton S. Decker, realtor won't spend any more money on gopher traps, but instead threatens to install a snake farm on his premises at Glenfeliz and Los Feliz boulevard. A gopher which recently caused Decker considerable mental anguish is now no more. The realtor, much distracted by the rodent which ate the roots of his vegetables and plants, invested heavily in high class gopher traps. After a week the traps had been of no avail. Yesterday while Decker was resetting one of the traps, the gopher peeked his head out of a nearby hole. Quick as a flash a gopher snake was upon the gopher, chased him down his hole and ended him. Cheaper to feed the snakes than buy traps Decker avers.

Plans Duplex Bungalow

Mrs. F. R. McMannus will improve her property on Glenfeliz boulevard near the corner of Glendale boulevard with a duplex stucco bungalow immediately, she announced today.

SHORT SIDE TRIP

A short side-trip of interest out of San Luis Obispo is to Morro Rock, a remarkable pinnacle that rises directly out of the ocean, against which the pounding surf makes a spectacular display, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club. Morro Rock is connected to San Luis Obispo by paved highway, and has a good automobile camp.

NEW BUYING PLAN AT FORD DEALERS

Campbell-Land-Pearson Inc. Announce New Method For Purchasing Car

It is now possible to purchase a new Ford touring car or a new Ford roadster on a down payment of $98, the balance payable in fifteen monthly installments. Thirty dollars each month carries a roadster contract and $32 for the same period will pay for a touring car. Under this new plan of finance announced today by Campbell-Land-Pearson, Inc., Glendale Ford dealers, it now becomes possible for almost anyone to purchase a Ford, the pleasure car of America. These new rates become effective immediately, it was made known by the organization.

They also announce a dance. Although the date, July 11, is still three weeks distant and there are many events to take place in the interim, they have been repeatedly asked for a few of the details regarding that affair. On the night of July 11 from 8 o'clock until midnight, they expect to hold an informal summer dance at which time they hope to share the pleasure of the evening with their patrons and friends. They have successfully acquired the "Lincoln Eight" orchestra to furnish the music for the occasion. Star Russell and Madalyne Hardy, popular radio entertainers, will present several novelty numbers. At a later date further announcement will be made.

Robert Higgins Here On Aeronautical Work

Robert A. Higgins, said to be the holder of basic patents on air displacement schemes which will be used on a new inexpensive lighter-than-air craft, and president of the Higgins Aerial Navigation Co. of Denver, is the latest addition to Glendale's list of aeronautical celebrities. Higgins arrived in Southern California today to "watch the development of aeronautics in and around Glendale," he said. He displayed plans for a dirigible type ship that can be constructed at a minimum cost and which he proposed to propel by means of air displacement alone, thus simplifying greatly the problem of locomotion in lighter-than-air crafts. He conferred with officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the Western Aero league this morning.

BURBANK CITIZEN FAVORS CONCERTS

Mrs. Fisher Congratulates Glendale Upon Series Coming In Fall

Glendale's neighbor, Burbank, is manifesting more than passing interest in the concert series to be presented next season at Broadway High school under the auspices of Glendale Music club. Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, president of the Music club, has received a letter of commendation from Mrs. Walter C. Fisher, president of the Woman's club of Burbank. Mrs. Fisher writes:

"It affords me very real pleasure to take part in the splendid undertaking of the Glendale Music club in presenting the series 1925-1926. I am sending my check so that I may have two season tickets reserved for me.

Great Opportunity

"Your club is giving the public an opportunity seldom found anywhere, certainly not in any but the largest cities. Once more Glendale is ranking with the best and most progressive communities.

"The program announced for the series is so entirely worthwhile that I wish every person in and near your city might avail himself of this unusual opportunity. The San Fernando valley should feel privileged to be within such easy reach of the educational advantage and the rich delight in hearing the artists you have secured.

"I send congratulations for the club's vision and achievement, and with best wishes for a most successful season."

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, June 25.—Verdugo City Association of Commerce has planned another big get-together neighborhood party to be held tonight in the Verdugo City auditorium. W. Scully will act as chairman of the men's committee and Mrs. Agnes Wooley as chairman of the women's committee on arrangements.

The neighbors will furnish the pies, cookies, cakes and sandwiches. The association will supply the ice cream and coffee. A slight charge will be made to take care of expenses. These affairs are given for the encouragement of the neighborhood spirit and make the newcomers acquainted with the old residents.

While Mrs. C. L. Shaw of Hermosa street was walking along the sidewalk to the grocery store Tuesday morning, a Ford locked its wheels and jumped the curb, striking Mrs. Shaw, who jumped into the path of the car to save her baby from any possible injury. Mrs. Shaw was knocked to the pavement and badly bruised. The motorist, whose name could not be learned, took Mrs. Shaw into Dr. Wemple's office, where it was found no bones were broken.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, June 25.—The Board of Trustees of the city of Tujunga, has thus far found it necessary to meet every week, and has put in full time each Tuesday night. Last week, the first and second reading of two new ordinances were heard. Ordinance 12 prohibits disorderly conduct, drunkenness, obscene language, and provides a penalty for violation of same. Ordinance 13 restricts the discharge of firearms within the city limits, and provides for penalty in case of violation. Additional ordinances were ordered to be drafted by the city attorney, one covering parking of automobiles on Sunset avenue, between Michigan avenue and El Centro street, also on Michigan avenue from Fischer street to Haines Canyon road. Another ordinance covers the cleaning up of vacant lots to reduce fire menace.

The matter of zoning and sanitation was brought up by a complaint made of unsanitary conditions of a place on West El Centro street, occupied by a county tubercular patient. The matter was referred to Mr. Miller, commissioner of health and safety, for investigation and report and it was understood that the matter of zoning would be taken up in detail in due course. The matter of fumigating after tubercular patients was brought up, and motion was made and carried that the clerk be instructed to write to Mr. Holland of Los Angeles County Board of Charities and invite him to meet with the Board of Trustees at their next meeting and go over the matter with them.

The matter of a city jail was discussed on statement by City Marshall Hedrick that he had had a number of cases during the past week in which a jail could have been used to advantage. The need of a city engineer was brought up by request for grade at Palm and Michigan avenue, also by petition presented asking for improvement of Pine street, from Los Angeles to Summit streets, and by the filing of a map covering a small subdivision. No official action was taken at the time, but the matter will be given due consideration. Resolution was passed allowing the city marshall $25 a month for the use of automobile.

Two hundred and sixty-one pupils of the Tujunga school took part in the thrift parade sponsored by the teachers of the Tujunga school and the Tujunga Valley bank. The total capital represented by the children in the parade amounted to $1500, in addition to which there is something over $300 in savings accounts in the Tujunga bank deposited by Sunland school children, making a total of more than $1800 for the entire valley.

Prize of $2 was won by Charles Doan of the 6th-B class for best thrift poster. One dollar for the best thrift costume, won by Jay McKennon. Fifty cents for second best poster, won by Aulalie Ullrich. One dollar for the prettiest costume, won by Lillian Upthegrove. One dollar for the funniest costume, won by Spencer Messick. Prize of $1 for the most original float, was won by Bobby Branhan, which represented a covered wagon bearing the legend, "Forty-niners going to Tujunga Valley bank with our gold." George Buck, Mrs. N. T. Bell, and Mrs. R. Shibley acted as judges. In addition to the prizes offered, Mr. Buck, believing in encouraging thrift, gave a prize of ten cents to each of the children participating in the parade.

Judge Breidt was happily surprised at his home when approximately seventy-five of his friends and neighbors called at his home, making this an occasion to express their gratitude and appreciation for the successful efforts he had made in their behalf for improvement of the streets and many other benefits which have been secured through his personal and untiring service to the community, A. C. Spaulding was spokesman for the guests, and presented the judge with cigars and flowers as a token of their appreciation. The women had provided a bounteous lunch, and a happy evening was spent.

England has an anti-golf campaign.

MILE SERVICE IS GOOD CAR'S BADGE

Proof Of Oldsmobile Merit Is Furnished By Tests Of Various Sorts

Everything in motor car value today is dependent on the number of miles of satisfactory service that a car will render, according to C. H. Hunter, Oldsmobile dealer, 208-10 West Broadway. This mile-satisfaction is proportionate to the mechanics of the car, its engineering features and the care with which it is manufactured. Oldsmobile Six, because it is of modern design and thoroughly proven, has the latest of which science knows.

Evidence of the service values in this car is given by C. G. Gale of the Motor Wheel Corporation, makers of Tuarc steel wheels used on Oldsmobile sport cars. Since last summer he has averaged 3,000 miles a month in his Oldsmobile over every type road and in all weather conditions. He reports driving this car makes play of his job.

Hunter has left for San Francisco on a combined business and pleasure trip, expecting to spend a week. He went by boat and will visit the headquarters distributing branch of the Pacific coast while in the bay city.

Flood Control Channel Bids Are Before Board

Bids for construction of the flood conrtol channel in the southwestern part of the city will be opened by the Board of Supervisors on July 13, according to word received by Glendale officials from county flood control engineers.

Work on construction of the open flood control channel in the northwestern part of the city has been delayed because of the failure of a number of property owners to grant easements for a right of way, according to a report from control engineers.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

To this conclusion Jim Frobisher was reluctantly brought, but even while writing it down there were certain questions racing through his mind to which he could find no answer. He was well aware that he was an utter novice in such matters as the investigation of crimes; and he recognized that were the answers to these questions known to him, some other direction might be given to his thoughts.

Accordingly he wrote those troublesome questions beneath his memorandum—thus:

But

(1) Why does Hanaud attach no importance to the return of the "Treatise on Sporanthus Hispidus" to its place in the library?

(2) What was it which so startled him upon the top of the Terrace Tower?

(3) What was it that he had in his mind to say to me at the cafe in the Place D'Armes and in the end did not say?

(4) Why did Hanaud search every corner of the treasure room for the missing poison arrow—except the interior of the sedan chair?

The noise of a door gently closing aroused him from his speculations. He looked across the room. Hanaud had just entered it from the bedroom, shutting the communicating door behind him. He stood with his hand upon the door knob gazing at Frobisher with a curious startled stare. He moved swiftly to the end of the table at which Jim was sitting.

"How you help me!" he said in a low voice and smiling. "How you do help me!"

Alert though Jim's ears were to a note of ridicule, he could discover not a hint of it. Hanaud was speaking with the utmost sincerity, his eyes very bright and his heavy face quite changed by that uncannily sharp expression which Jim had learned to associate with some new find in the development of the case.

"May I see what you have written?" Hanaud asked.

"It could be of no value to you," Jim replied modestly, but Hanaud would have none of it.

"It is always of value to know what the other man thinks, and even more what the other man sees. What did I say to you in Paris? The last thing one sees one'sself is the thing exactly under one's nose"; and he began to laugh lightly but continuously and with a great deal of enjoyment, which Jim did not understand. He gave in, however, over his memorandum and pushed it along to Hanaud, ashamed of it as something schoolboyish, but hopeful that some of these written questions might be answered.

Hanaud sat down at the end of the table close to Jim and read the items and the questions very slowly with an occasional grunt, and still more occasional "Aha!" but with a quite unchanging face. Jim was in two minds whether to snatch it from his hands and tear it up or dwell upon its recollected phrases with a good deal of pride. One thing was clear. Hanaud took it seriously.

He sat musing over it for a moment or two.

"Yes, here are questions, and dilemmas." He looked at Frobisher with friendliness. "I shall make you an allegory. I have a friend who is a matador in Spain. He told me about the bull and how foolish those people are who think the bull not clever. Yes, but do not jump and look the offence with your eyes and tell me how very vulgar I am and how execrable my taste. All that I know very well. But listen to my friend the matador! He says all that the bull wants, to kill without fail all the full-fighters in Spain, is a little experience. And very little, he learns so quick. Look! Between the entrance of the bull into the arena and his death there are reckoned twenty minutes. And there should not be more, if the matador is wise. The bull—he learns so quick the warfare of the ring. Well, I am an old bull who has fought in the arena many times. This is your first corrida. But only ten minutes of the twenty have passed. Already you have learned much. Yes, here are some shrewd questions which I had not expected you to ask. When the twenty are gone, you will answer them all for yourself. Meanwhile"—he took up another pen and made a tiny addition to item one—"I carry this on one step farther. See!"

He replaced the memorandum under Jim's eyes. Jim read:

"—subsequent developments, e.g., the disappearance of the poison arrow, the introduction into the case of the ill-famed Jean Cladel, Ann Upcott's story of her visit to the treasure room, and now the mystery of Mrs. Harlowe's pearl necklace, and the finding of the arrow, make out a prima facie case for inquiry."

Jim sprang to his feet in excitement.

"You have found the arrow, then?" he cried, glancing towards the door of Ann Upcott's bedroom.

"Not I, my friend," replied Hanaud with a grin.

"The commissaire, then?"

"No, not the commissaire."

"His secretary, then?"

Jim sat down again in his chair.

"I am sorry. He wears cheap rings. I don't like him."

Hanaud broke into a laugh of delight.

"Console yourself! I, too, don't like that young gentleman of whom they are all so proud. Maurice Thevenet has found nothing."

Jim looked at Hanaud in perplexity.

"Here is a riddle," he said.

Hanaud rubbed his hands together.

"Prove to me that you have been ten minutes in the bull-ring," he said.

"I think that I have only been five," Jim replied with a smile. "Let me see! The arrow had not been discovered when we first entered these rooms?"

"No."

"And it is discovered now?"

"Yes."

"And it was not discovered by you?"

"No."

"Nor the commissaire?"

"No."

"Nor Maurice Thevenet?"

"No."

Jim stared and shook his head.

"I have not been one minute in the bull-ring. I don't understand."

Hanaud's face was all alight with enjoyment.

"Then I take your memorandum and I write again."

He hid the paper from Jim Frobisher's eyes with the palm of his left hand, while he wrote with his right. Then with a triumphant gesture he laid it again before Jim. The last question of all had been answered in Hanaud's neat, small handwriting.

Jim read:

(4) Why did Hanaud search every corner of the treasure room for the missing poison arrow—except the interior of the sedan chair?

Underneath the question Hanaud had written as if it was Jim Frobisher himself who answered the question:

"It was wrong of Hanaud to forget to examine the sedan chair, but fortunately no harm has resulted from that lamentable omission. For Life, the incorrigible dramatist, had arranged that the head of the arrow-shaft should be the pen-holder with which I have written this memandum."

Jim looked at the pen-holder and dropped it with a startled cry.

There it was—the slender, pencil-like shaft expanding into a slight bulb where the fingers held it, and the nib inserted into the tiny cleft made for the stem of the iron dart! Jim remembered that the nib had once or twice become loose and spluttered on the page, until he had jammed it in violently.

Then came a terrible thought. His jaw dropped; he stared at Hanaud in awe.

"I wonder if I sucked the end of it, while I was thinking out my sentences," he stammered.

"O Lord!" cried Hanaud, and he snatched up the penholder and rubbed it hard with his pocket handkerchief. Then he spread out the handkerchief upon the table, and fetching a small magnifying glass from his pocket, examined it minutely. He looked up with relief.

"There is not the least little trace of that reddish-brown clay which made the poison paste. The arrow was scraped clean before it was put on that tray of pens. I am enchanted. I cannot now afford to lose my junior colleague."

Frobisher drew a long breath and lit a cigarette, and gave another proof that he was a very novice of a bull.

"What a mad thing to put the head of that arrow-shaft, which a glance at the plates in the treatise would enable a child to identify, into an open tray of pens without the slightest concealment!" he exclaimed.

It looked as if Ann Upcott was wilfully pushing her neck into the wooden ring of the guillotine.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CAVE TREE

Scooter and Tooter were two of the new little rabbit boys who had come to live in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow when the rabbit gentleman married his new wife. She had so many children she didn't know what to do, though she didn't exactly live with them inside of an old shoe. Scooter and Tooter were just as fond of playing tricks on their new daddy as were Weezie and Wizzie.

One day, on their way home from school, the two rabbit boys hopped through the woods and, all of a sudden, Scooter saw a big tree near the tinkling brook. One side of the tree was covered with bark—not the kind of bark you hear from a dog, but tree bark.

"But the other side of the tree has a hole in it—like a cave!" cried Scooter as he ran around to look.

"Oh, what a dandy place to hide!" exclaimed Tooter, trying to make his little pink nose twinkle like his new daddy's larger one.

"We'll call this the cave tree, and we'll hide in it and see if any one can find us," suggested Scooter.

"But there's no one here to look for us," objected his brother. "If yo hide from me I'll know you're in the cave tree. And if I hide from you, why that will be the same thing."

"Yes," said Scooter, slowly, "it will. But look—here comes Nipper and Skipper!" he suddenly whispered as he saw two of his brothers hopping through the forest. "We'll both hide in the cave tree and see if they can find us."

"That will be lots of fun," agreed Tooter. So the two little rabbits scampered into the hollow cave tree. Then they cried:

"Coopie! Coopie! Coop!"

This meant they were hidden and that they wanted some one to search and find them. Skipper and Nipper heard their brothers' calls and Skipper said:

"They are playing hide and go seek. Let's find them." But so well hidden were Scooter and Tooter in the cave tree that Skipper and Nipper could not find them, until the two little hidden rabbits hopped out laughing.

"Where were you?" asked Skipper.

"Oh, we have a dandy new place to hide," said Scooter, but neither he nor his brother Tooter would tell where it was. So they kept the secret of the cave tree.

"We can play a trick on our new daddy with it," whispered Scooter to Tooter that night. And the next day, when Uncle Wiggily took these two little rabbits to the woods on a picnic, Tooter whispered to his brother:

"Come on now! Uncle Wiggily Daddicums is going to sleep. We'll take some of the good things to eat and go hide in the cave tree. When Daddicums wakes up he won't see us and he'll think we're lost and he'll be all excited like and it will be lots of fun for us."

So while Uncle Wiggily slept, Tooter and Scooter hid in the cave tree and ate a lot of the good picnic things they had brought with them. Then, after a while, Mr. Longears awakened.

"Dear me, I must have been asleep!" he cried. "Come, Tooter! Come, Scooter!" But the two little rabbits weren't in sight. "Oh, they must be lost!" cried poor Uncle Wiggily. "Where are they? Oh, Tooter! Oh, Scooter!" And all the while, the little bunny boys were hidden in the cave tree, peering out through a crack and laughing at Uncle Wiggily.

But at last, when he couldn't find them, and was going to run off to get the Police Dog to come, Tooter cried:

"Here we are—in the cave tree."

"Oh, I'm so glad," said Uncle Wiggily. "I thought you were lost. Come out and we'll go home.

BUT TOOTER AND SCOOTER COULDN'T COME OUT! No, sir! They had eaten so much picnic lunch that their little stomachs had swelled. And, anyhow, it was a pretty tight fit for two of them inside the hollow tree. And THEY COULDN'T GET OUT.

"Oh, dear!" cried Tooter, and Scooter said the same thing. They were afraid they would have to stay in there forever, or maybe all night, and they were sorry for the trick they had played on their new daddy. But Uncle Wiggily didn't laugh at them.

With his sharp teeth the bunny gentleman gnawed enough off the side of the hollow tree so the little bunnies could squeeze out. And glad enough they were to do so, too, let me tell you. So it all ended happily, and if the cocoanut cookie will let the tooth brush bite it just a little wee bit, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily cutting the grass.

NO HIT GAME IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

E. Jensen Hurls His Way To Fame, But Opponents Get Three Runs

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Can a team go hitless for four innings, yet score three runs? It isn't done every day in baseball, but it was accomplished yesterday at the ball park on San Fernando road in a Twilight league game when the Public Service team lost to the Huli Trucks, 11 to 3, after going without a hit.

The three runs were scored in the third inning. E. Jensen was on the mound for the truckmen, and yesterday's victory was more added glory, inasmuch as he pitched a two-hit shutout game against the Christian church team the day before.

The truckmen took kindly to the slants of Armstrong for three innings, and then helped themselves to Nicholson's offerings in the fourth inning. Frueling connected for a homer, H. Doll got his customary three-base bingle, Fansett got a couple of doubles, and Frueling and C. Jensen hit for doubles.

In the first inning the truckmen pulled a double play on the Public Service crew when Fansett took Armstrong's drive, tagged Heryford and caught Armstrong coming into first, Fansett to Frueling.

The game, as far as the Public Service team batted, went like this: First inning—Heryford walked. Armstrong hit into a double play. E. Camargo fanned. Second inning—Hunter walked, went to second on a passed ball. Nicholson out, Wilson to Frueling. Baumstark fanned. Farner fanned.

Third inning—Aiman safe when H. Doll's throw went low to first. Aiman took second when Frueling muffed E. Jensen's peg to first. H. Armstrong walked. Heryford walked, advancing Aiman and H. Armstrong. N. Armstrong hit a sacrifice fly to Stearman, and Hunter, who was running for Aiman, scored. Stearman's throw went wide and H. Armstrong came in home, Heryford taking third. Heryford scored on a passed ball. E. Camargo out, Fansett to Frueling. Hunter walked. Nicholson fanned.

Fourth inning—Dodsworth hitting for Baumstark, safe at first when Ray Doll forgot to keep his foot on the bag. Dodsworth stole second. Farner fanned. Aiman hit to Frueling in right field. H. Armstrong hit to C. Jensen.

This afternoon the Radios and Glendale Creamery will meet at Broadway field and tomorrow afternoon first place in the league for the first round will be decided when the Firemen and Huli Trucks meet at Broadway field. Saturday the final game of the first round will be played at Broadway field between the Glendale Creamery and the Christian church.

BARNES BREAKS COURSE RECORDS

American Golfer Leading In Qualifying Round At Prestwick Meet

BULLETIN

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Macdonald Smith of New York took the lead in the first day's play for the British open golf title this afternoon by establishing a new record of 69 for the Prestwick course. His effort bettered by one stroke the record established only a few hours before by another American, Jim Barnes.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes of New York went to the front among the early finishers on the first day of the British open golf championship today by turning in a card of 70-77—147 for 36 holes of play. Barnes' 70 broke the course record at Prestwick and in spite of the fact that he cracked slightly after the sixth hole in the afternoon his total was sufficient to outdistance the field of early starters. The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

The other American invaders, Macdonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood, did not show so brilliantly although Smith had 76, which placed him well among the leaders. Kirkwood had a mediocre 83. Barnes was four strokes ahead of his nearest rival, J. H. Taylor, who had 74, with the aid of a hole in one. Ted Ray had a 77, as did Abe Mitchell, George Duncan turning in a 79.

Macdonald Smith's card was marred by a pair of sixes, taken on the eighth and tenth. Smith's card:

Out .....435 434 564—38
In .....644 545 334—38 76

Harry Vardon, well-known as a teammate of Ted Ray's on American tours, had 79; Cyril Toley had 82; Arnold Massey 80, and Sandy Herd, who played with Barnes, had a disastrous 86. Total scores for the day's play were:

Joe Kirkwood .....83 79—162
J. H. Taylor.....74 79—153
J. I. Cruikshank .....80 78—158
Arthur Havers .....77 80—157

MAILMEN DEFEAT CALLA LILY, 9-2

Letter Carriers Take Kindly To Offerings Of Two Milkmen Hurlers

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff

Knocking two slabmen all over the lot, the Glendale Postmen copped another game last night on Broadway field when they let down the Calla Lily Creamery nine with the slightly shorter end of the 9 to 2 count. The letter-carriers swooped down on Blakemore during the second and third, poling out nine hits, two of them home runs and another a triple, for a total of seven runs.

Madison, who worked on the mound after the third, did much better, but still was unable to handle the slugging postmen. The second twirler did his stuff for the last three and one-third innings, offering up such slants that the victors took occasion to swat five of them for safeties and push across two additional tallies.

Big Bill Whitley was plying his willow wand freely and managed to punch out three safeties in four trips to the plate. Rye and "Goldie" Richards both hit safely thrice in four times up, with Selover lending a helping hand with three hits, one a circuit clout, in five times at bat.

Currier was a complete master of the Milkmen. He allowed but four scattered hits and two runs in seven innings, in addition to fanning seven men. Blakemore got through the first safely, but was hit all over the lot during the next two innings. Almost every offering he served up was given a healthy swat and the majority bolstered the batting averages of the lettermen.

LIII—Lower Death Rate

In the city of Copenhagen, where a million people dwell, there had been a death rate before the day of this greatest of all food experiments, that had for the ten years past averaged 140 deaths per annum for each ten thousand living. The regulations went into effect not at the beginning of the war, but during the spring of 1917 and the death rate that year, with only part of the time under the new regime, fell to 123.

Beginning with the last actual year of war, when the regulation had already been strictly enforced for some months, and the effect of previous diets worn off, we have these most astounding figures:

From November, 1917, until the armistice in November, 1918, the death rate of the people of Copenhagen fell to 99, a decrease of 30 per cent, and that, too, in a time when the factors of life other than diet could hardly be considered as especially favorable.

The people of the city of Copenhagen in pre-war times were not very different in their ways of life from the people of America. They were prosperous and they were good feeders. They did not live on fish and black bread, but on bacon and beef and eggs, very much like American city dwellers, and many of them were overfed and fat and their cancer death rate was high.

The comparison may not be exactly alike, yet there is as much reason to suppose that Americans would be affected even more favorably by a like change, as to suppose they would be less affected.

Our American death rate is, in fact, very similar to what the Danish was.

And we have reason to believe our death rate could be cut 30 per cent lower on the Danish diet.

Tomorrow—Improving Diet

WALKER, GREB TO GRAB SPOTLIGHT

Wills And Weinert Bout Not Drawing Interest That Other Event Will

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 25.—Now that the Italian Hospital Fund bouts seem certain to be pulled off on July 2, betting men who annually lay big money on important battles are beginning to look the situation over.

It looks sure that the Wills-Weinert bouts will not involve many big bets because the wise guys among the layers are off Wills. He fooled them badly in the Bartley Madden fight and they are not yet sure that Wills was not pulling clever stuff in order to lure Dempsey into the ring with him.

If this is so—and if he carried Luis Firpo as some say—there is good reason for thinking that he might not be too warlike with Weinert.

At any rate the big interest so far as July 2 is concerned will be the Walker-Greb fight. The present tendency of the betting men is to hold to the good old maxim that a good big man is better than a good little man.

It looks right now as though the Pittsburgh windmill will go into the ring a favorite in the betting. Anyway it is a cinch that Walker won't.

Thirteen years has Greb been whirling away in a manner all his own. Meeting them big and little, never tiring, always making his opponent know he has been in a battle. He has held one American title and now holds the world's middleweight crown.

Walker to date, in spite of all the ballyhooing has shown himself to be no better than a good workman with his fists. Greb, on the other hand, is a genius. And when money talks it usually makes speeches for the man of extraordinary gifts.

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 25.—After being looked at down the disdainful nostril for two months, the Philadelphia Athletics at last have come into general recognition as a ball club that seems to stick with the pace to the end of the 1925 campaign. It required no less than seven late inning rallies through which games were won during the present month to convince the skeptics, but now they are thoroughly sold on the idea.

Yesterday's ninth inning uprising against the Red Sox was the clincher.

There may be a few that still contend that the Athletics are a vast mistake, but they are in the minority and would do well to climb on the band wagon and seize the first available cornet. The Athletics apparently have no intention of cracking.

The hesitancy about accepting the Macks for what they claim to be is due to the idea that they are playing above and beyond the collective head. The writer thinks they are.

But so did the Phillies of 1915, the Reds of 1919, the Dodgers of 1916 and 1920 and the Washington Senators of last season. There is nothing in the constitution and by-laws that prohibits a ball club them continuing to play that way indefinitely. The outfit merely gets the idea that it is good and conducts itself accordingly.

Fate wills the moment when disillusionment will take place. Sometimes it doesn't come until the following season and, perforce, the club either wins the pennant or makes it decidedly uncomfortable for the team that does. Sometimes disillusionment sets in before the end of the season and the club joins the also-rans. Ten days ago, fate willed that the Philadelphia Athletics should proceed upon their merry way, for the time being at least.

On that occasiou, the Athletics, harried by injuries, were beginning to fray about the edges. They had dropped down from .800 baseball to something around a .500 pace.

They met the Cleveland Indians and the latter proceeded to crash their way to a long lead in the early innings. But the Athletics put on a thirteen run rally and won. Baseball men contend that Connie Mack took the right turn at the cross roads on that occasion.

A top-heavy defeat would have disorganized his ball club but instead a sensational victory gave it new life. The team won six straight the following week and again is playing at the speed it knew in the first month of the race. My idea is that, with the threatened slump averted, the Athletics will continue to do so.

It seems to be a case where the permanent wave is far from temporary.

BASEBALL

By the close of their series with Portland the Vernon Tigers are confident today they will have lost as many games as the league leading Seals have won, the Ducks winning over the bilious Bengals 6 to 3 and Salt Lake holding San Francisco 10 to 9. Los Angeles lost at Sacramento 13 to 6 while Seattle trimmed Oakland 9 to 2. It's too hot to play ball, or the whole world's upside down with Umpire Ed Finney, one of the fans commented on yesterday's performance in the P. C. L.

JEWETT COACH IS IN GREAT FAVOR

Demand For Product Keeps Factory On Full Time, Says Local Dealer

The present year's demand for the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co.'s products, the Paige and Jewett cars, has been running neck and neck with the output, requiring the factory to devote every ounce of energy to turning out new machines.

Conditions generally through through the country and particularly in the Glendale district, have been extremely favorable, reflecting both the widespread call for good motor cars and the prosperity of the Glendale district, according to D. R. Tompkins, owner of the D. R. Tompkins Motor Car Co., local Paige and Jewett distributors, 210 West Colorado boulevard.

While all models of the two cars are showing steady call, greatest emphasis has been placed by the buying public on the new Jewett coach. It has made a wonderful appeal to people, both because of the great beauty of lines and the service obtainable from this style of enclosed car. Considerable more than 5800 Paige and Jewett models were turned out in the best month of 1925 so far.

New Zealand's epidemic of infantile paralysis, which claimed many victims, has ended.

EXPECT CUSHIONS TO FLY AT FIGHT

Buffalo Tommy Ryan Boxes At Hollywood Stadium Tomorrow Night

Will cushions permeate the atmosphere over at the Hollywood Legion stadium tomorrow night, when Buffalo Tommy Ryan battles Young Nationalista in the main event? In Ryan's first appearance here with Georgie Rivers, the cushions flew quite promiscuously on account of Referee McGrath's unpopular decision in favor of Rivers. Several fight fans were fined for violating the state law in regard to the careless handling of cushions, but the demonstration proved to Tom Gallery, matchmaker, that Tommy Ryan is a favorite with the customers.

In the semi-windup Hayden Phythian will fight Joe Kelly for six rounds. The rest of the card looks mighty good, with Johnny Geraden and Freddie Mack, six rounds; Joe Pimenthal and Tob Montoya, four rounds, and Dav Taylor and Jack Murphy, four rounds.

ONE ACT PLAY IS FEATURE OF SHOW

Emerson Dramatic Club To Present 'Frank Glynn's Wife' Tonight

A one-act play entitled "Frank Glynn's Wife" will be offered as the chief entertainment tonight for the American Legion at the Merchants' Exposition grounds. The play will be presented by the Emerson Dramatic club, composed of students of the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

Studebaker Company Giving Special Heed To Lending Buyer Every Help

Oil means efficiency or otherwise in a good automobile engine, depending on intelligent attention by the motorist. For this reason the Studebaker Corporation of America pays especial heed to co-operation with Studebaker owners in keeping the car engines properly lubricated, states R. L. Conover, vice-president and sales manager of the Packer Motor Co., Inc., Studebaker dealers at Brand and Colorado.

A new force feed system of oiling gives maximum efficiency with every facility to simplify its care. A positive gear pump drives directly from the camshaft, reaching camshaft bearings, main crankshaft bearings, timing gears, connecting rod bearings, pistons, piston rings, valve stems, cylinder walls, cam and cam tappets. The oil is filtered before returning to the pump.

It is no longer necessary to get under the car and remove a plug to drain the crankcase. A drain cock is provided that can be operated from above.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 25.—The stock market maintained its strong tone today in the face of a steady volume of profit-taking and short selling, and an advance in call money rates to 5 per cent. Good records were also made in the bond market, where some of the prominent investing institutions have been competing quite actively for the better grade of prime government, industrial and utility bonds. Investment bankers also reported a ready sale of nearly $40,000,000 worth of new stock and bonds in the foreign market. The motor stocks were the most prominent ground gainers. A strong buying movement in Pierce-Arrow, Mack Trucks, Studebaker, General Motors, White, Hupp, Hudson, etc., lifted prices from 1 to 3 points above the previous closing level.

The tobacco stocks were active and strong, with United Cigar Stores, Tobacco Products and Philip Morris advancing to new high prices.

Railroad stocks were generally strong, with Northwestern rails leading the advance. Expectations of higher freight rates for the roads in this section has led to a more active investment demand for their stocks.

Call loan rates advanced to 5 per cent shortly after the noon period as the result of continued withdrawal of funds from the loan market by interior banks, which were reported to have called home nearly $50,000,000 this week to date. No concessions from these rates were obtainable in the outside market. Industrial and trade reports were generally favorable including the weekly report on crude oil production, which showed a decline of 62,500 barrels a day from the preceding week.

Many of the industrial and specialty stocks were kept in line by the pools and professionals who are sponsoring their market movement. Bearish traders have thus far had small success in depressing prices of such stocks, and it is generally understood that the short interest in such stocks is heavy. Recent attempts to cover have resulted in sharp rallies in prices. Other industrial stocks are being distributed at the present price level.

Trading declined in volume after the third hour and transactions were confined to a smaller number of stocks, in which the railroad shares assumed a more prominent position.

The advance in call money rates to 5 per cent, the highest since March 30, was without apparent effect on the market. Motor stocks continued their forward movement, with the Pierce-Arrows prominently in the lead.

The oil stocks were reactionary near the close. Pan-Americans reflected the favorable annual report of the chairman of the board of that company.

Stock sales, 980,900 shares; bonds, $10,886,000.

PEOPLE ABLE TO DECIDE ON ISSUE

Casa Verdugo Residents Are Well Qualified To Determine Future

In another column of The Glendale Evening News will be found an announcement of a mass meeting to be held in the Casa Verdugo district tomorrow night at which time the question of incorporating as a sixth-class city will come up for discussion. This district comprises probably 900 people who have, up to the present, preferred to remain outside of the incorporated limits of Glendale being under the administration of the county officers.

The people comprise a very prosperous and well-to-do class of citizens and, of course, they are divided on the question of incorporating or remaining under county rule. It seems to be the opinion of those who have had experience in incorporating in instances like this, where the few collection of houses are entirely surrounded by another city, that embarrassing conditions might arise by arranging to conduct affairs as an independent municipality.

However, this is not a question for the publisher of The Evening News to decide, but rather it is to be left to the good judgement of the people of the district concerned, and we feel sure that whatever decision they come to will be the best way out of the dilemma.

Bride-to-Be Honored At Shower And Cards

Miss Ethel B. Land, whose marriage to Robert G. Sherman will take place July 8 at St. John's Episcopal church, Los Angeles, was honoree yesterday at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Dorothy Hunt Sullivan at her home, 406 West Maple street. Shades of pink were used by the hostess in her decorative scheme, dahlias being the floral feature.

Late in he afternoon the doorbell was rung by a very noisy laundry man, who left a huge laundry bag, containing the gifts for Miss Land. Four tables were arranged for five-hundred. Among those present were Miss Land's mother, Mrs. F. B. Land, and Mrs. Sullivan's mother, Mrs. D. W. Hunt.

Call Mass Meeting On Incorporation Project

Handbills are being distributed in the Casa Verdugo section announcing a mass meeting of Casa Verdugo citizens on Friday, June 26, at 8 p. m., at the Central school for the purpose of discussing "incorporation and other questions of vital importance." The meeting is called by the Casa Verdugo Welfare association, of which E. E. Dana is president.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The twentieth quadrennial convention of the Modern Woodmen of America came to its grand finale here this afternoon as skies cleared for its monster "rainbow parade" in which more than 6,000 members of the organization marched while three government airplanes from Detroit droned back and forth overhead.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—While cooling northwest breezes brought relief to San Francisco and other coast cities, the far west continued to bake under record breaking temperatures today.

Temperatures ranged downward from the 120 degrees high notch at Needles. Merced had its hottest weather in thirty-five years with 117, and milk was reported to have boiled in cans at Redding at 110.

Sacramento and Fresno each reported 110, Modesto and Napa 106, Stockton and Santa Rosa 105, San Jose 104, Grass Valley 100 and San Francisco 95.

Six prostrations here were attributed to the heat wave.

Coincidentally a suicide wave was recorded here. George Edwards, well known composer and Bohemian club member, slashed his throat with a razor, dying shortly afterward. Mrs. Winifred M. Benjamin, 55, wealthy widow, shot herself to death, and Alfred J. Burton, purchasing agent of the state board of harbor commissioners, and well known politically, suicided by shooting himself through the head.

Little relief is in store for interior sections, according to the weather man.

Fifty-Seven Graduate From Realtors' Class

The record established by the Southwest Realty board of Los Angeles, when fifty-two of its members were graduated from the Universtiy of Southern California real estate extension course, will be shattered by the graduation of fifty-seven members of the Glendale board, scheduled to take place during the early part of July. Unless the Los Angeles Realty board beats the mark of fifty-seven graduates, Glendale will have the largest class in the United States, regardless of the board enrollment, D. C. Casselman, secretary, said.

Elaborate graduation exercises, to which the public will be invited, will be arranged by a special committee, to be named by President W. L. Twining. Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California and Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the university, have been invited to be honor guests of the occasion. Officials of the California Real Estate association, including President D. Richard Ainsley and Glenn D. Williman, secretary, will also attend the graduation.

FARMER STUDIES WAYS OF CANADA

American Money, Settlers Wanted, Says Cashier Of Local Bank

George E. Farmer, 134 North Orange street, cashier of the Glendale State bank, returned yesterday from a trip through the United States and Canada. June 4, 5 and 6, Farmer attended the convention of Optimist clubs held at Houston, Texas. From Houston, Farmer went to his native city of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to visit old friends and relatives. In Chicago, Farmer saw several Hollywood, California, friends and spent a most enjoyable time with them.

Duluth, Edmonton and Winnipeg were included in the itinery. One of the most delightful experiences which Farmer enjoyed was stopping in Jasper National park, high in the Canadian Rockies. From there the Glendalian journeyed to Prince Rupert Island and took the inside passage by boat to Vancouver, B. C., thence by train, making the rest of the trip by railroad.

Farmer states that business conditions generally are good, but not active. Few properties are changing hands, but people seem well satisfied with what they had, he declared, and people as a rule are comfortably fixed, better than they have been in many times of more business activity. He described present conditions as "quiet," not at all as a slump.

Banks Have Money

Banks in general have plenty of money and sound investments, said Farmer, but bankers do not care to handle much more money than they have available just now. The reason is not shortage of available funds but the shortage of investments paying a reasonable return. That is one of the main reasons for the slack business period.

Farmer was interested to learn that Oklahoma bankers are making heavy investments in California street bonds at this time, because they are one of the highest paying as well as safest investments available. The shortage of other investments paying high returns has turned the money tide toward California.

In Canada, Farmer reports conditions as excellent. For the last two years Canadian crops, of which wheat is the staple, have suffered severely because of drought. This season it rained all June and a bumper crop is expected.

Two of the largest paper mills in the world, one at Powell River and the other at Ocean Falls, B. C., Farmer says, are running at full capacity. Lumbering is always good in Canada, he said. Farmer looks upon Canada as the great storehouse for the future, holding as it does mile upon mile of yet undeveloped forest and mineral wealth. Canadian forests are practically untouched.

Canadian Situation

Perhaps Californians will see here the answer to the save-the-redwoods problem, which has been greatly concerning this state and even outsiders of late, he said. Farmer, although not a lumberman and not pretending to understand the technicalities of the question, says that from appearances in Canada, lumbering can be continued there until reforestration has produced commercial timber in the United States, and the reserve is sufficient to be kept perpetual by proper reforesting. The Glendale banker thinks there is no need for sacrificing the giant redwoods for commercial purposes and that there is plenty of timber outside of the best redwood stands.

"Canada is a tremendous storehouse," said Farmer yesterday. "Her resources are apparently unlimited. And Canada has just one crying need —she wants Americans and American money. Canadians much prefer American settlers to those of any other nationality and complain of our 'making a fuss about an imaginary boundary line.' Americans are more than welcome in Canada, either as residents or investors, and Canadians are doing all they can to foster a spirit of comraderie between the two countries. And we in the United States are reciprocating."

WHEN THEY ALL RETURNED TO KING ARTHUR'S COURT JACK WAS SO FAMOUS FOR HIS MANY EXPLOITS THAT THE GOOD KING MADE HIM A KNIGHT OF THE ROUND TABLE.
BUT IS WAS NOT LONG BEFORE JACK WAS AGAIN SEARCHING FOR GIANTS AND ONE DAY HE SAW A CAVE BEFORE WHICH SAT THE MOST HIDEOUS GIANT HE HAD EVER SEEN AND BY HIS SIDE WAS A GREAT SPIKED CLUB.
JACK GOT DOWN FROM HIS HORSE PUT ON THE INVISIBLE COAT AND AIMED A BLOW WITH HIS SWORD BUT HIS FOOT TURNED ON A STONE AND HE ONLY CUT OFF THE MONSTERS NOSE.

The Way to Beautiful Homes
A NEW finish for walls
Have you seen the new "mottletone" wall finishes? They are quite the vogue in the newer homes, and many older homes are being done over to secure these up-to-the-minute wall effects.
Wonderfully attractive color combinations in mottletoning are possible with FLAT COAT WALL PAINT. You first paint the wall with one color and let it dry; then apply a second color, and while wet, stipple by "dabbing" it with a folded piece of cloth or paper. The result is a charming blending of two colors in an irregular pattern. And your walls are washable.
Ask for a color card which gives full directions for mottletoning, and shows some of the effects that can be obtained.
You can now paint your property and pay on the Bass-Hueter Monthly Payment Plan. Call and let us explain this plan to you.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

J. A. Robinson of Robinsons Men's Shop has an eye for the esthetic. He visited Patterson park, Glendale's beauty spot, and he stopped to tell the writer that all of the commendations given the gardens, with their shrubs, trees, flowers and ornamentations, are far too few And we humbly confess that words cannot describe nature's beauty in Patterson park. It takes a "look see" for yourself.

Incidentally, the swimming pool is an attraction for the young folks which should not be underestimated. Sorry that it had to close for a few days at the health officer's suggestion, but perhaps it was for the best.

Swimming, or no swimming, the park is worthy of more attention on the part of the public. It compares favorably, only on a smaller scale, with the Busch gardens in Pasadena and the Sunken Gardens at Exposition park, Los Angeles. It is a credit to those in charge of its development.

China in the throes of a revolution gives a long-distance thrill. Captain Robert Dollar is authority for the statement that Christianity is the salvation of China. Others declare it is the foreign influence that will prove the ruination of the Orient. So much for that. There are quarrels brewing here at home, it would appear from statements made by noted people.

Former United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, whose pink whiskers long waved on the Democratic side of the upper house at Washington, now declares it is his knowledge and belief, that,

"No political party in America stands for any principle of liberty of man, or justice of government. Only place and profit is the object of candidates for office. Men no longer respect the lessons of history or give regard to the personal rights of the citizen.

"Violation of law, from booze banditry to man murder, is the sport of the hour. This era of today in America has its counterpart in the era at Rome just before she fell to chaos and destruction, and in Russia just before it yielded to revolution and anarchy."

Lewis is not alone in his arraignment, for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, interviewed as he was sailing for Europe recently, said that the most despotic countries of Europe, at whose sins we need to hold up our hands in horror, could learn many things from us now about absolutism which they never knew. The income tax, he avers, is one of the greatest enemies of American freedom as it involves a system of espionage of the most intimate and personal affairs of men and women while the eighteenth amendment, he believes, is fast undermining all liberty in that it violates rights to enforce lesser laws.

A score more of prominent national figures might be quoted, uttering similar thoughts and wondering how it happens. The Akron, Ohio, Beacon Journal, in a scathing editorial which would not bear republication in this highly sensitive community, methinks, declares of those seeking public office:

"The question would never be on your own real qualifications for the job. Your strength of character would be your weakness, your ability, honesty and courage your undoing."

In conclusion of the arraignment of the political machines, the reformers and various blocs, it says:

"So on with the papsuckers' ball! Tonight the harp throbs and the viol sounds over the debauchery of officialdom! Tomorrow the cannon!"

However, the Santa Ana Register asks, "Can conditions be so dreadful as this?" It points out that throughout these United States are spread: "other tendencies of a very different character—unity, kindness, humanitarianism, intelligence, constructiveness, unselfish devotion—in surprising volume and force, when you once look for them."

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, June 25.—The annual camp-fire meeting of the Alaska-Yukon club was held Saturday night in customary celebration of the longest day of the year. From 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. beans, sourdough bread, and coffee, were served at Sycamore grove. Dr. Marion Tracy Whiting entertained with songs while Charles A. Cooke of the Chamber of Commerce gave a talk on the camp-fires of '98. Major H. L. Suydam of Eagle Rock is president of the club.

A storm drain will be constructed on Ellenwood drive within the next ten days to relieve the flood water situation in that district.

Mrs. F. C. Loba, 5242 Mt. Helena avenue, entertained forty members of the Bethel Congregational church of Ontario at her home here. Mrs. Loba was formerly a member of the church.

John Bailey, 1833 Hill drive, freshman at the University of Southern California, has been selected as one of twenty men to form the new organization to be known as the Trojan Squires.

LEAVES FOR EAST

Mrs. Florence Becker, who has been in Casa Verdugo since last December, left Wednesday for Miles City, Mont., where she will visit her daughter. Mrs. Becker will later return to her home in Oshkosh, Wis.

MEMBERS OF CLUB TO SEE 'ICE BOUND'

Lexington Players to Finish Present Production Saturday Night

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has made arrangements to have tonight the club's night at the Playhouse, where the Lexington Players are presenting "Icebound." Being a Little theatre, the Lexington Players run on a non-profit basis, everyone—actors, director and all—donating their services and doing all they can to make their production a success. However, there is a big expense in producing any play, and to meet these expenses the Lexington Players will need the support of Glendale and Glendale organizations.

With the proper support of Glendale the new theatre cannot help but grow and give finer presentations, for, if more than expenses are made, half of the amount remaining is put in a revolving fund for future productions and the other half is divided evenly between those who have helped to make the play a success.

Among the cast of "Icebound" are several very interesting players. Roy Gordon, who plays the leading role, was with the Provincetown Players in New York, later going with the Faegan Players as a leading man. This is only his second appearance in the west.

Marie June Jones, who plays opposite Gordon, has appeared in a number of productions at the Potboilers in Los Angeles, as have Marie Dyches, Dorothy B. Cormack, Barbara Elsinore and Dabny Lewis, who was also in the cast of the "Great I Am" with Taylor Holmes, and a number of other recent plays.

Faith Hope hardly needs an introduction, being known on both the stage and screen and as a concert and operatic singer as well. Duane A. Young has played in practically every city in the United States and "Icebound" marks his first experience with a little theatre. Saturday will be the last night of "Icebound."

TELLEGEN FILM TO END AT COSMO

'Breath of Scandal' to Show For Last Times Today; Drama Is Next

"Were I producing pictures I would not look upon the east and its uncertain climatic conditions as the best place for my work," declared Lou Tellegen, who is playing a leading role in B. P. Schulberg's production of "The Breath of Scandal," the Preferred picture now showing for the last times today at the Cosmo theatre, South Brand and Windsor road.

"While some producers are much stirred up over this question of the site of production it seems to me waste of breath. I would quarrel with a producer over a bad picture even if it were made in heaven. So long as picture making is not transferred to foreign soil I don't care what city gets the credit though California has a vast number of superior attractions."

Starring with Tellegen is Patsy Ruth Miller while the other actors are all people well known to the public. On Friday and Saturday the Cosmo will show Elinor Glyn's "Man and Maid" and a Buster Keaton comedy.

WEBER, FIELDS IN STORY ON SCREEN

Comedians Declare This Is Funniest Thing They've Ever Appeared In

Coming from a team of comedians whose funmaking proclivities have been famous the country over for half a century, it is rather surprising to hear one specific instance singled out by them as the time when they feel they have been funniest.

Yet Weber and Fields, making their screen appearance in George Melford's "Friendly Enemies," an adaptation of the famous Broadway stage success, which comes to the Gateway theatre for a three-day run starting today, declare that they have never done anything funnier and more diverting than their work in this picture.

NURSES TO BE GUESTS

Mrs. E. W. Clanton of 904 East Maple will entertain the Alumni Association of Nurses of the Glendale sanitarium at her home on the night of June 30 at 8 o'clock. After a short business meeting the time will be spent in games. Light refreshments will be served. There are 150 members in this association scattered all over the world, twenty-five of whom are living in and around Glendale.

Gold Girl

FLORENCE VIDOR in film now showing at Glendale theatre has best part of her entire career.

"The Girl of Gold," which opened at the Glendale Theatre last night is a realistic and delightful tale of the present-day New York social set and their insatiable craving for excitement and thrills.

It treats honestly the problem of the daughter of a wealthy mine owner who realizes that she is "loved" for her money, and in this role Florence Vidor is given a fine opportunity to display her delicate artistry.

In an effort to startle and attract the elite who refuse to accept her, the "Girl of Gold" holds a dance down in her gold mine, and this scene is undoubtedly one of the most unusual ever screened.

Credit to Director

Director John Ince deserves a great deal of praise for its perfect execution. Just when the feverish excitement of the merrymakers has reached its pinnacle, fate swoops down on them and the mine caves in with a crash. The girl and the man she loves are trapped and the scene in which they face death in the dark cavern of the mine and sound the depth of their love is deftly and admirably handled by Miss Vidor and Malcolm McGregor.

This is unquestionably Miss Vidor's finest portrayal to date and her supporting cast is a notable one including, besides Malcolm McGregor, Alan Roscoe, Bessie Eyton, Claire DuBrey and Charles French.

The production is an exceedingly lavish one and contains some exquisite sets and gorgeous gowns.
